Eyes Turn Now To Kefauver!

Political candidates, according to an old American tradition, win votes by kissing babies.

With the Stevenson hat now firmly in the ring, political eyes turn questioningly toward the tall Tennesseean, Sen. Estes Kefauver.

He is busy with babies, but it is an investigation of a sort of commercial traffic in them, especially illegitimate ones.

There is, to be sure, drama. There is sorrow, pathos and surging anger. That innocent babes, newly born into a complex world, should become a commodity of profit for lawyers, doctors and persons who make a business of literally selling them on a black market, is deeply shocking.

It is a cause which cries out to just God. Without question it requires a federal law on the order of the Lindbergh kidnapping statute.

We can be glad the senator has turned his undivided talent for investigation to the monstrous racket. He has patience and a sort of stubborn courage in an increasingly necessary sort of archaeology—the digging up of old crimes and cleverly concealed financial deals.

Politics

In 1951-52 there was a great amount of helpful political "fall out" from the Tennesseean's investigative bombing of the underworld. Vast audiences watched daily as the "big shot" racketeers of the nation were paraded before the Senate committee, revealing ties with municipal and state governments. The political and corrupting power of criminal money was pictured with compelling vividness. The public conscience was deeply stirred. The underworld rats were, in considerable measure, driven from their plush-lined nests of influence and profit.

Sen. Kefauver was not unaware of the political benefits which, unthought, developed out of those hearings. They were really very considerable. They won him a following which the professional politicians did not at all comprehend . . . until they were revealed in the primaries which began in 1952, and in the convention of that summer.

Almost none of this support was professional. The senator's first primary was in New Hampshire. He had difficulty finding a manager. In the city of Manchester, for example, an enthusiastic barber shop operator headed the Kefauver campaign. In that small state the senator literally strolled the streets, walked into offices, factories and shops, sticking out a hand to startled citizens and saying, "I'm Senator Kefauver, I hope you can vote for me."

Here and there he had professional help. In Ohio, for example, a small, but locally strong anti-Lauschke organization, joined with the amateurs. It was a shock when Kefauver came up with exactly half the state's delegates to the convention. But, in the main, those who provided money and work were dedicated amateurs. Professional politicians still shake their heads over the fact that in almost every state where he waged a fight the senator turned up with at least one wealthy man who spent liberally and who became an articulate Kefauver apostle. Almost without exception they were new to politics, but had the fervor of the newly converted.

Wait

Many of these survive. But, viewing the scene today, and measuring it against the climate of 1952, there is reason to guess that, finally, Sen. Kefauver will, before the August convention, decide to wait for 1960.

Not much attention was paid him in 1952. He worked along patiently, as is his custom. None of the professionals paid him much mind until he won the New Hampshire delegates. Now, in 1955, there is a different climate. The party is out of office, not in. Harry S. Truman is no longer an issue. The professionals are not unaware of the senator. He has been always a "lone wolf" type and hence is not too popular, even with his fellow senators. He likely will win New Hampshire again. But his strength elsewhere will almost certainly be less than in 1952. His Jackson-Jefferson Day speech in Ohio, for example, reportedly produced little enthusiasm. The senator does not now know, himself. He will weigh events carefully. There is a very real chance he will wait until 1960.

Cairo Rips Israel's U.S. Arms Plea

Egypt Threatens New Red Deals

By WARREN ROGERS JR.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP)—Israel formally asked today for U. S. arms at cut-rate prices on easy payment terms. Egypt promptly protested that this would start a Middle East arms race and lose America the friendship of Arabs.

Israel's Ambassador Abba Eban told the State Department his country urgently needs defense weapons. He said Israel has a "sense of alarming vulnerability" arising from Egypt's purchases of Communist arms.

But five and a half hours later Egypt's Ambassador Ahmed Hussein turned up at the State Department to say:

"We believe Israel doesn't need American arms. We need arms ourselves for defense."

THREATENS FURTHER DEALS

Hussein told George V. Allen, assistant secretary for Middle East affairs, that "Egypt may be compelled" to make more arms deals with the Communists. He said that if the United States ships weapons to Israel the Arab world will be convinced "the United States does not want our friendship."

The State Department issued statements saying Israel's request had been taken under consideration and Egypt's protest had been noted.

U.S. FIRM

But the department stood by recent expressions of President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles that the solution of Middle East problems lies in "agreement between the parties" and not in an arms race.

To Hussein, the department said: "Mr. Allen repeated that the United States would be favorably inclined toward anything which led toward peace in the area and would view with grave disapproval anything which might lead to hostilities there."

Undersecretary of State Herbert Hoover, Jr., who talked with Eban, reminded the Israeli diplomat that the United States is still waiting to hear how his country feels about United Nations peace proposals.

Oyster Beds Net Whales In Chatham

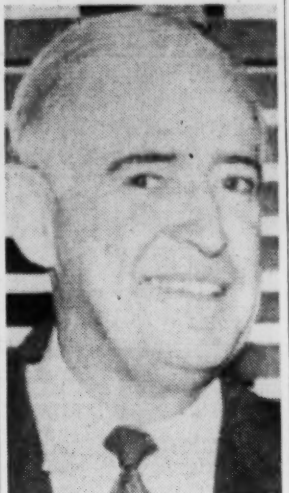

SAVANNAH, Nov. 16 (AP)—A school of whales languished in Bull River near Wassaw Sound Wednesday, and dozens perished on an oyster bed and in the marshes.

Ranging in size from four to 16 feet, the creatures were tentatively identified as blackfish, a species of whale.

There was no immediate explanation for the occurrence. John B. Rollins of Wilmington Island said the satiny-skinned creatures appeared unable to swim back out into the channel after entering shallow water over an oyster bank about noon. The tide was running out, and by 3:30 p.m. the whales were stranded.

Morning News reporter Arthur Whitfield said he counted two dozen dead and dying. Claude Phillips, Savannah school principal, said he counted a dozen at another location and saw at least 100 languishing in the river.

Unseasonably warm weather here was one reason advanced for the creatures' apparent lassitude. The blackfish, a migratory creature, is used to colder water.

ICC Chief May Quit In Inquiry

By WILLIAM S. WHITE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16—Hugh W. Cross was expected in informed Senate quarters tonight to resign shortly as chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

This action, it has been authoritatively indicated, would result in quashing a pending Senate investigation of his official conduct.

The Senate permanent investigations subcommittee unanimously voted yesterday after a day of secret testimony to hold public hearings on the Cross case.

INVOLVES CONTRACT

This action was the equivalent of a finding that on the record thus far made in private there appeared to be substantial grounds for suspecting that Cross had behaved with questionable propriety in connection with a Chicago transportation contract.

Responsible informants indicated today, however, that the subcommittee had no desire to pursue Cross if he now relinquished his post and retired to private life.

The Republicans in particular were assuming his resignation as foregone and indeed were prepared to press that step upon him if he should seek advice. The Democrats, too, were understood to be ready to drop the proceeding if he left the commission.

NOT IN OFFICE

Cross himself could not be reached. To inquirers his secretary responded: "He is not in the office."

The ICC, one of the most powerful of all federal agencies in the economic life of the nation, has supervision over all railroads and by law is bipartisan. Cross, a Republican and a former Lieutenant governor of Illinois, was

Home Rule Bill Wins Panel Okay

Cigarette Tax Cut Measure Coming

By M. L. ST. JOHN

An agreement was reached on a proposed home rule bill, and a plan to replace the cigarette tax increase with a different tax was announced by legislators meeting here Wednesday.

Four legislative committees were in session at the State Capitol, working out bills for the January session.

One group concluded its work on home rule legislation. Another conferred with Revenue Commissioner T. V. Williams about repealing the 2-cent-per-package tax increase on cigarettes. A third group prepared legislation on admission and release at the Milledgeville State Mental Hospital, while a fourth committee worked on bills concerning health and accident insurance.

SMOKE TAX REPEAL

Legislators from the tobacco belt said they will introduce bills to repeal the cigarette tax increase and replace it with some kind of new tax. They made this announcement after Commissioner Williams said any move to reduce a tax should be accompanied by a bill to increase a tax—because the state cannot afford the loss.

Sen. Lawton Urry of Hazlehurst declared the tobacco companies had retaliated against Georgia producers because of the higher tax. He charged that the companies paid Georgia producers less for their crops. This cost Georgians about 5 million dollars, Urry contended.

CHANGE PLAN

The 2-cent tax increase, imposed at the summer special session, produces an estimated 5 million dollars, Williams said.

The legislators changed a previously announced plan of seeking an executive order to suspend the tax increase. Instead, they decided to seek its repeal through legislation.

Conferring with Williams were Sen. Dorsey Matthews of Moultrie. Representatives Andrew Tanner of Coffee County, W. C. Parker of Appling, Bill Lanier of Candler and Sen. Urry.

HOME RULE ACTION

A Senate-House committee instructed Sen. Ernest McDonald of Dalton and Rep. Bernard Nightingale of Glynn County to draft a home rule bill and send copies to

Britain Roars at Hollywood Sneak Of B17 Into Heroic RAF War Film

LONDON, Nov. 16 (AP)—Hollywood's splicing of pictures of a U.S. bomber into a movie depicting a British air raid caused an uproar in Parliament today, and the government said it is considering a formal protest.

Laborite Legislator Stephen Swingle denounced Hollywood's "doctored" of the picture, climaxed by a reenactment of the all-British raid that wrecked Germany's Roer dams more than 12 years ago.

"This excellent British film . . . made with scrupulous attention to historic detail . . . has been grossly distorted in Hollywood, particularly by the introduction of a Flying Fortress (B17) into the raid sequence," Swingle said.

"Is it not shameful that the American public has not been allowed to see the correct British version?"

The House of Commons greeted the Laborite attack with applause and shouts of, "Hear, hear."

Uvalda Twins Burned to Death

UVALDA, Nov. 16 (AP)—Eleven-month-old twins burned to death Wednesday when an exploding heater set a Uvalda home afire. The children's mother was critically burned and physicians said her chances of recovery are slim.

Jane and Joey Pollett were trapped inside the room where the heater exploded after their mother, Mrs. Joe Pollett, tried to ignite the heater with a kerosene-dipped paper.

A neighbor said she saw Mrs. Pollett run from the house with her clothing afire and then turn back in an attempt to save the children but the house was already full of flames, the neighbor said.

Stevenson said President Eisenhower scored a "substantial achievement" at the summit conference in Geneva because he "re-assured the world that the United States is not a menace to peace."

He told newsmen that neither flexible nor fixed price supports offers the entire answer to the farm price problem.

Asked if he could defeat all Republican candidates, he responded: "I'm not entering this campaign for the exercise."

Drunk Truck Follows Tipsy Woman to Jail

JONESBORO, Ark., Nov. 16 (AP)—A woman drove into a service station here last night and said to the attendant in a confidential whisper: "I wish you would check that guy behind me; I think he's drunk."

Police said the "guy" behind was a driverless pickup truck, whose bumper was locked with the rear bumper of the woman's car.

She was charged with driving while intoxicated.

Wilson Doubts Geneva To Revive Cold War

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP)—Administration leaders voiced clashing opinions today on whether failure of the Big Four conference at Geneva means a stepping up of the cold war between the Communists and the free world.

Secretary of Defense Wilson said "one could not draw the conclusion" that the stalemate reached by the foreign ministers in Geneva will result in "an intensification of the cold war."

Another high policymaker, however, asserted "the cold war is back" and the administration is consequently reviewing its spending plans.

REPORTS RESTUDY

This official, who would not permit the use of his name, reported "the administration is re-examining its program and is prepared to make any changes that are necessary."

Wilson took a somewhat brighter view and did not write off the chances of some progress being made by the foreign ministers in the future. The diplomats broke up their Swiss meeting in a gloomy atmosphere today.

Wilson told a news conference the results at Geneva will have "little or no effect" on the American defense program.

EXPLAINS BASIC PLAN

He said the basic plan is to maintain strength into the indefinite future and to insulate the program from international "ups and downs and temporary pessimism and optimism."

But the other official said:

1. Cuts in spending for foreign military and economic aid, pegged at $3,900,000,000 for the fiscal year ending next June 30, are "not now contemplated."

2. Budget balancing aims of the Eisenhower administration will be subordinated to the "necessities" of the developing international situation.

The Eisenhower official emphasized there was no doubt in high administration circles that the cold war is being renewed. As one piece of evidence he cited the tense situation in the Middle East, where Israel and Egypt have been firing at each other and the Communists are providing the Arabs with arms and ammunition.

Big 4 Fail, Woo Bonn Separately

By DREW MIDDLETON
The New York Times News Service
GENEVA, Nov. 16 — The conference of foreign ministers ended in failure tonight. No agreement was reached on German unity and European security, disarmament or improvement of East-West contacts. Nor was any date set for another meeting.

The three Western foreign ministers blamed Russia for failure of the conference to make headway on German unity. This was the key problem facing the four powers and lack of progress was due, the West said, to Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov's refusal to agree to unity because it would involve liquidation of the Communist regime in East Germany.

Text of the Western statement was transmitted to Heinrich Von Brentano, foreign minister of the German Federal Republic, and to the mayor of Berlin, who like all Germans, the statement said, must suffer "cruel disappointment" as a result of the meeting.

The surface amiability that pervaded the conference, with exception of one or two acid interludes, prevailed at its two sessions today. Handshakes and friendly jokes did not outweigh the situation described by British Foreign Secretary Macmillan as at best a stalemate, at worst a backward step.

The conference met twice today. This morning the West rejected a final Russian proposal on European Security despite Molotov's vigorous efforts to win acceptance. The three Western powers then issued the text of

Ike Confers With Weeks, Dulles Today

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Nov. 16 (AP)—President Eisenhower is taking on tomorrow the heaviest schedule of official conferences since his Sept. 24 heart attack in Denver. Secretary of State Dulles is flying the Atlantic to report to Eisenhower tomorrow and Friday, and then to the American people, on the Geneva conference stalemate.

Secretary of Commerce Weeks is coming up from Washington for a meeting.

To make it a triple-header affair, Dulles will see the President for the first of a series of conferences that will whip the administration's budget for the fiscal year beginning next July 1 into shape for presentation to Congress in January.

With Weeks and Hughes will be Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams, with a new batch of documents requiring Eisenhower's attention.

Dulles will spend the night in Gettysburg, confer with Eisenhower again Friday, and then return to Washington. Hagerty told a news conference the White House has asked for radio-TV time for the secretary to address the nation Friday night.

Kefauver Calls Judge's Conduct Outrageous

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 16 (AP)—Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) today termed as "outrageous" the conduct of juvenile court Judge Henry Woodward of Augusta, Ga., accused of acting in three or four capacities at once in placing babies.

"I'm surprised at that great state (Georgia) allowing it to go along as far as it did," Kefauver said.

Judge Woodward was on the stand Monday and Tuesday defending charges by the subcommittee that he used his position as juvenile judge for profit in placing babies. He said he acted within Georgia law in taking custody of children away from unfit parents and then acting as attorney for foster parents who adopted those children. He said he collected fees of from $200 to $300 from the adoptive parents.

Earlier today, a woman in the audience interrupted a juvenile court judge's testimony and shouted back for the afternoon session.

Friday Holds Icy Prospect Of 50 High

By ELKIN TAYLOR

Atlantans who wore short sleeves Wednesday will don their overcoats Thursday morning, with the weatherman predicting a 45-degree drop overnight.

Cold air from Canada and the Central Plains swept through much of the South and is expected to continue on its southward and eastward march to the sea.

After the big plunge Thursday morning, the weather is expected to level off into its usual wintry Thursday night.

Friday is expected to bring partly cloudy skies accompanied by little temperature change. After a Thursday morning low of 30 to 32 in Atlanta, the mercury should rise to 50 in the afternoon.

Friday's extremes indicate little change—32 and 48.

After reaching an autumnal 76 Wednesday (tying a 50-year-old record for Nov. 16), the thermometer began its long trek toward the freezing point.

11 DEGREES, 15 MINUTES
The advance guard of the cold front passed Atlanta about 7 p.m. The mercury dropped 11 degrees in 15 minutes—from 72 at 6:45 to 61 at 7 p.m.

In the mountains of north Georgia readings ranging as low as 24 were expected.

Forecasters Harry Armstrong of the Atlanta Weather Bureau said, "Temperatures will be more uniform during this cold spell than they were early in November when the weather was clear and radiation caused some extreme variations."

STORMY WEATHER
Warnings of possible severe thunderstorms and tornadoes over extreme north Georgia Wednesday afternoon prompted hundreds of people to call the weather bureau and The Atlanta Constitution for further information. Late Wednesday night, however, the weatherman reported no tornadoes or severe weather disturbances.

Atlanta's temperature drop was not unique in the current cold wave. Springfield, Mo., for example, recorded a high of 77 late Tuesday and the mercury quickly dropped 64 degrees to 13 above early Wednesday.

Oklahoma City dropped 61 degrees in 16 hours.

37 BELOW ZERO

The coldest air Wednesday still hovered over the northern mountain states. Fraser, Colo., registered 37 degrees below zero.

But the West was not alone in her shivering. The South, after basking in record-breaking November warmth, reported sharp mercury drops.

The temperature at Warrior, Ala., dropped from 81 to 56 in an hour. The mercury at Birmingham slipped from 79 to 60 in one hour.

U.S. Firing 10 Satellites Into Space

CHICAGO, Nov. 16 (AP)—The chairman of the United States earth satellite program said tonight American scientists plan to shoot not just one but a number of satellites into space in 1957 and 1958.

The minimum program calls for launching about 10 instrument-filled objects—called "birds"—with the expectation that at least five would get above the atmosphere and orbit around the earth, said Dr. Joseph Kaplan.

Kaplan said these artificial satellites will circle the earth for a period of about two weeks, at heights of 200 to 800 miles.

GEOPHYSICAL YEAR

Kaplan is chairman of the U.S. National Committee for the International Geophysical Year, a division of the National Academy of Sciences which has been given the job of carrying out the American satellite program. It is part of the U.S. participation in the IGY year, a period from July 1, 1957, to the end of 1958 when more than 40 nations will cooperate in a study of the earth and its atmosphere.

The scientist outlined some new details about the satellite program in a speech prepared for a dinner of the American Rocket Society.

The announcement that the United States would launch an artificial satellite was made several months ago by President Eisenhower. At the time, only one such satellite was mentioned officially. Since then the contract for constructing the propulsion unit has been awarded to General Electric Co. and the contract for the bird itself to Glenn L. Martin Co.

DOUBT ABOUT TIME

Some scientists attending the rocket meeting, including representatives of the two companies, said Dr. Kaplan's words and some of the things he left unsaid indicated: 1. The satellites probably will be smaller than first anticipated, 2. they may not be shaped like basketballs, as previously announced, and 3. there is doubt that the program can be completed as soon as previously expected.

Bomber of Airliner Prods Jailers On Food as Wife 'Still Loves Him'

DENVER, Nov. 16 (AP)—John Gilbert Graham, charged with the bomb plot explosion of a plane which killed his mother and 42 others, spent today reading paperback novels and asking jail guards to hurry up his meals.

At home, his shaken, tearful wife said, "I still love him and I'm right behind him."

Graham, 23, a tall, sallow drive-in restaurant operator will be arraigned tomorrow on a charge of murdering his mother, Mrs. Daisy King, 54, who died in the time-bomb blast of a United Air Lines plane Nov. 1 near Longmont, Colo. Dist. Atty. Bert Keating said he would ask the death penalty.

Mrs. Gloria Graham, 22, mother of two small children, in her first public statement since the arrest of her husband, said, "I'm not going to believe a thing until I see Jack."

Police said Graham in a signed confession claimed he plotted to kill his mother to get his share of her $150,000 estate and $37,500 in insurance he bought just before she boarded the plane.

The young wife said Mrs. King gave Graham the money to buy the insurance from a vending machine at the airport. Mrs. Graham said:

"She asked Jack to get some insurance for us, for his sister (Mrs. Helen Hablutzel of Spenard, Alaska) and for her sister, Mrs. Helen Smith of St. Genevieve, Mo. He took the applications over to his mother and she signed all three. I've forgotten the denominations of each of them."

"After a few minutes we went to the passenger gate."

BACKS REPUBLICANS
Secretary Humphrey

GOP Bred Boom, Says Humphrey

By GLADWIN HILL
The New York Times News Service
LOS ANGELES, Calif., Nov. 16—Secretary of Treasury Humphrey said tonight that "confidence in the integrity of the government" was perhaps the major factor in growing national financial stability that had given the country "unequaled prosperity."

Therefore, he said, "we must have Republicans in office to carry on."

In a talk prepared for a $100-a-plate Republican party dinner, Humphrey enumerated as fiscal accomplishments of the Eisenhower administration:

"We have reduced deficit spending until now we can hope that a balanced budget this year is within our grasp."

CITES TAX CUTS

"Taxes have been reduced for every single taxpayer."

"Our credit has improved by the manner in which we have handled the debts we owe."

"We have not yet reached the happy time when we can pay down on our debts, but we will have very little if any increase in borrowing."

All this, along with employment increased to a record 65.5 million people and unemployment reduced to 2.1 million people, he continued, had been achieved with "an Eisenhower extra: Practically no increase in the cost of living."

The dinner, at the Biltmore Hotel, was sponsored by the United Republican Finance Committee of Southern California. More than 1,000 tickets were reported sold.

MENTIONS POSSIBILITIES

Humphrey took tact and studiously impartial cognizance of four California Republican presidential possibilities, mentioning "California's splendid representation in the United States government" by Vice President Nixon, Chief Justice Earl Warren and Sen. Knowland, and "the good Republican governor of your state, Goodwin J. Knight." He also mentioned California's junior senator, Thomas F. Kuekel.

Humphrey said the administration had substantially achieved its initial goal of ridding the nation of "communism, corruption and controls." Contrasting conditions now with three years ago, he asked repeatedly, "Who wants to go back?"

Citizen Walking Along on Street Has His Rights

TORONTO, Nov. 16 (AP)—Goetz Koechlin, 20-year-old German immigrant, told the judge he was walking peacefully along the road, minding his own business, when two plainclothes detectives stopped him and asked his name and address.

"What's yours?" he asked right back.

They flashed a police badge but refused to give him their names. A scuffle ensued and Koechlin was taken to the Scarborough district police station, charged with assault and locked in a cell.

"Case dismissed," said Magistrate O. M. Martin. "No officer is entitled to have these facts given him by the ordinary citizens walking along the street."

Geneva Flop Backs Sen. George Words

Sen. Walter F. George's Atlanta Kiwanis Club speech, warning of the necessity of maintaining our allies in their struggle to remain free from Communist domination, had hardly ceased echoing before his words were confirmed from Geneva.

The Big Four meeting, seeking peace in Europe through a unified Germany following free elections, has ended in failure. Secretary of State Dulles bluntly charged that Russian Foreign Minister Molotov had come with instructions to bring about failure.

All diplomats agreed—the Cold War has returned.

Sen. George said that we must continue to aid our allies—those who are with us in the anti-Communist bloc.

"Certainly you can't buy friends," he said, "but you can keep ruthless dictators of communism from trampling underfoot those who would stand with us."

"One thing I can assure you," he said, "So long as I am in the Senate I will never weigh gold against the peace and security of America."

Are there men who, to build up their own political fences, would assist in the ultimate destruction of their own country by communism?

Foreign aid has not caused a single American to be deprived of anything due him under our flag.

Surely the farmers will not be fooled by the double talk that we cannot carry on foreign aid while farmers are being depressed. It has been foreign aid which has kept the farm surplus from being larger than it is. Parity payments to farmers are down because of the GOP—not foreign aid.

The farmers, like other citizens, have sons who will have to fight if war comes. Shall we abandon all our bases in Europe and Asia as the Communists urge and withdraw to this country? Only from those near bases can we retaliate in a hurry.

Shall we penalize all our soldiers, sailors and airmen of the future—by following a policy of giving up aid and bases?

Certainly we can't "buy friends." No one has ever said we could or that we are trying.

What we are doing is enabling allies, who provide us with bases, to withstand the Communist pressure.

Sen. George has drawn the line. Will we be wise enough to keep our strength in Europe and Asia or will we do as the Communists demand—abandon all aid, withdraw our troops, and leave everything to Red aggression?

City Should Try Again For the Traffic Court

The City of Atlanta's plans for a traffic court have gone a-glimmering once more.

For the second time the Georgia Supreme Court has ruled that the proposal as drawn was out of line on constitutional grounds.

The court would have broadened the scope of the city's authority over traffic violations, and allowed it to try misdemeanor cases. Currently, such cases are tried in the criminal courts of Fulton County.

The city contends that the present system is archaic and works against the best interests of traffic enforcement. Certainly it is confusing, and the frequent jurisdictional squabbles between the City Hall and county courthouse are not calculated to impress the taxpayers with the majesty of the law or the complete disinterestedness of the parties involved.

Like them or not, big cities are here to stay, and as they continue to grow, so will their special problems. Traffic is one of these problems, and the national trend is to surrender jurisdiction in these cases to urban authorities.

A traffic court for Atlanta seems desirable and almost inevitable. There is little doubt the city will try for it again, possibly via the constitutional amendment route.

This amendment should be carefully drawn with an eye on the unfavorable court decisions of the past.

Certainly, its chances of passage will be sweetened if the sponsors drop their insistence that the judges of the proposed court be appointed by the mayor and leave their selection to the people.

Governor Backs Idea Of Government Study

Gov. Marvin Griffin has added his support to a move suggested by The Constitution and a number of state leaders to study county government with a view to increasing efficiency and cutting down on wasteful practices that now exist.

The governor suggests that such a study should be undertaken jointly by the General Assembly and the Georgia Association of County Commissioners. He pointed out that economic improvements, including paving of rural roads, are adding to taxable values and that the counties should take them into account.

It is obvious that Georgia's county governments have not kept pace with the times. While the movement to the cities continues, the small, rural counties that are losing population have not streamlined their services accordingly. They are attempting to maintain the same governmental structures on greatly decreased revenue. They are looking to the state to take over more and more county expenses and functions.

There is a limit to what the state can do. If it attempts to maintain this costly structure of too many counties, too many officials with nothing to do and too many overlapping services the state will have a permanent financial crisis.

A little streamlining of county governments and the state's relationships with them would save Georgians millions of dollars.

This Country Is Daffy But, Oh, So Wonderful

Even Mack Sennett, whose "Keystone Kops" used to amuse the moviegoers in the days before the films learned how to talk, never thought up a situation funnier than the one in Raritan, N.J.

The citizens of Raritan recently voted down a proposed pay increase for their police force of six. The angered coppers immediately started in with strict enforcement of the traffic laws. In one day they handed out some 150 parking tickets.

The citizens committee didn't like that.

They issued some new rules. One is that policemen cannot read comic books while on duty.

What a wonderful, daffy country this is! Only the land of the free and the home of the brave could come up with such a story.

Jaycees Launch Move That Needs Much Help

Georgia's Jaycees, always alert and willing to make a contribution to their communities and state, plan a program designed to raise "teacher prestige."

We salute the Junior Chamber and they will understand if we suggest they will need a lot of help. They plan to do the very human thing of recognizing performance.

It is human nature to appreciate a pat on the back and a commendation for services rendered. This is basic in the art of public relations. Many an institution spends a lot of money on a staff seeking to elevate employee morale when they could get by with a few expressions of appreciation and good will.

Teachers get a lot of lip service. But the parents who come around and thank them for working with their children are few. And the annual howl about giving the teachers remuneration equal to that in competitive fields usually is handled in a manner which adds up to a gratuitous insult to teachers and their profession. There isn't any doubt at all but what the teaching profession has been kicked around by politics, local and state, which make a political football of it when the tax bills are before them.

But we, the public, must face the fact that school enrollment is mounting like a tidal wave and will rise during the next 20 years. We must make up our minds to accept the bad news—in taxes—and be willing to pay the bill. Public education is the backbone of our sort of country. When we weaken it we weaken the nation.

Also, those in education must revise their formulae. Teaching, for example, is the only profession in which ability is not a basis for promotion.

There is a lot to be done. The Jaycees are making a start. We salute them.

Jail Is Not Appropriate For Wedding Ceremony

We'd like to raise a brisk cheer for Sheriff Dave Starr of Orlando, Fla.

Bernard H. Davis, 39, is a prisoner in the sheriff's cooler. He is there on a first-degree murder charge. Rosa Marie Finley wants to marry him. He is her former husband. She left him for a boy friend. Bernard is charged with killing the boy friend. It's one of those sordid messes.

Sheriff Starr says there won't be any wedding until after the trial.

"The Orange County jail," he said, "is not a wedding chapel. Marriage is a sacred bond. It should not be contracted in jail."

That's us cheering, Sheriff.

Cheerful Georgia Prisoner Chides the Cynics Who Do Not Believe the World Grows Better

Atlanta — I noticed Mr. J. P. Tennille's letter in which he belittles mankind's attempt to better things.

His mention of the prison system struck home!

I am a convicted felon prisoner, now serving time, and the impressions from my experiences during my incarceration are far from those I had of the Georgia prison system when I was a taxpaying citizen. I had expected everything from a horsewhipping to a ball and chain. Instead, I found that my desire to atone for my wrong to society—as evidenced by maintaining a good record and accepting my imprisonment—has been met more than halfway by the officials in charge.

Possibly, Mr. Tennille is unaware of the great strides made in the Georgia prison system. Georgia has instituted a new rule by which a full and unconditional pardon may be granted to those first offenders who have reached their minimum sentence. In passing this rule, Georgia becomes the first state in the nation offering such a pardon at the expiration of the minimum sentence. That's progress for you, Mr. Tennille!

My desire to thank the members of the Pardon and Parole Board of the State of Georgia instigated this letter, for their action has paved a road back to normalcy for first offenders.

No, Mr. Tennille, things do not "just keep rocking along like they always have!" Not in Georgia, anyway!

A PRISONER.

Which Is the Cause, And Which the Effect?

Gainesville—Now that we have all either learned to spell or are reading pictures, may we pass on to the next thing of importance.

Is the cry-babbling of married women a cause of spinsters?

Or do men prefer poor sports, or is association with men the reason so many women are crybabies?

SALLIE COWLES

State Politics Tend To Be Allegorical

Macon—After the "Sand Man" we now have the "Tar Baby" in Georgia politics. What's wrong with calling the Griffin administration the "Uncle Remus" era of Georgia government. Personally, I'm for lining up all those state highway trucks that are equipped with those $36,000 worth of gas saving devices that won't work and carting the whole kit and kaboodle back to Bainbridge.

G. R. HENRY.

There Are Many Views On Any One Question

Atlanta—I feel that it should be explained that Gov. Griffin, Mr.

Cook and Mr. Talmadge are not the only taxpayers in our state and that they do not reflect the feelings of the entire population.

When they say that they are going to close our parks and do this and that, let them know that there are people who say they have no right to kick around our recreational facilities.

The people should be allowed to express their feelings in this latest crisis by voting the way they feel.

Quakertown Is Grateful

The floods up East have subsided, but among the victims the level of gratitude toward neighbors who reached out a hand still runs high. Witness, for example, the editorial appreciation of the Quakertown (Pa.) Free Press, as relayed by faithful friend Bill Seas of Decatur. Says Quakertown editor, C. Norman Detweiler, who writes under the byline C. End:

"You can tell Atlantans that we, and the Red Cross, deeply appreciate and are truly grateful for your human interest in the plight of our folks up here.

"The generosity of Atlanta's contribution and your conveying of this news to me should be an incentive to some folks around here to change their minds about the Red Cross, break down old prejudices, and make us all more cognizant of the fact that 'we are our brother's keeper.'"

Atlantans, you will recall, were no time at all raising $25,000 on a special Red Cross appeal for $28,500.

SHORT SUBJECTS: The National Black-eyed Pea Association of Taylor, Texas, no longer is a restricted organization. Its membership rolls have been opened to anyone who is a friend of the black-eyed pea. Evidently, the NBPA is intent on getting 1956 started off right. Add L. W. Dempsie of Mahoning to the list of those who think it would be a fine thing for the City of Atlanta to acquire a modern steam locomotive as a museum piece. ... It's good to see the Ralph Rice column back on the front page of the Manchester Mercury.

JEST FOR TODAY: The arithmetic problem read: "If your father sold 1,500 bushels of wheat for $2 a bushel, what would he get?"

The boy answered: "A new car." The teacher gave the lad full credit for the answer.

HIGHLINES: Finding a perfect mate is usually a problem even if you are only looking for two socks that are alike.—Raymond Duncan in The Ellaville Sun.

The dogs seem to have scattered, as for several days now we haven't had to stomp the floor to run 'em out from under the house. But we doubt that city officials had anything to do with it. We figure that some smart dog got hold of one of last week's papers, read what we think of dogs, and warned his friends to lay low for awhile.—"Bub" Lang in The Omega News.

Every Man Seeks Peace With Himself

One of the most appealing verses in the Bible is this one: "Peace I leave with you. My peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid" (John 14:27). It makes us feel good just to read that verse. Right now read it again. We feel drawn to those words like a thirsty man is drawn to a cool spring.

More than anything else in this life we want inner peace. We are so tired of living with our inner conflicts, tension and turmoil and we would rather possess peace of mind and heart than anything else.

Peace is not something we search for and work for. Jesus said: "My peace I give unto you." He freely gives it. All that remains is for us to accept it. But in order to be able to accept His peace, there are three other things we must accept from Him—His pardon, His presence and His purposes. Let's look at each of those.

First, we must accept His pardon. We have in mind some sin we have committed, some wrong of which we are ashamed. A sense of guilt haunts us and we are never able to get away from it. We are sorry for what we have done, we refuse to do it again, and sincerely we ask God to forgive us. God always forgives those who ask Him to and who really mean it.

But there is a curious quirk within the human mind that makes it hard for one to accept God's forgiveness. Knowing we have done wrong, we feel we deserve punishment and we live in constant dread and fear that something bad is going to happen to us. Subconsciously we say, "I've done wrong and someday I will pay for it." I went to the dentist the other day. He didn't hurt me but I kept expecting him to any moment. Thus I could never relax as long as I was in his chair. And the constant dread and fear of some dire punishment for our sins robs life of all chance of deep inner peace.

Well, one way to gain faith in the forgiveness of God, is to practice forgiving other people. In fact, this is essential because Jesus said: "If you forgive men their trespasses, your Heavenly Father will also forgive you" (Matt. 6:14).

In his book, "Learning To Have Faith," Dr. John A. Readehead imagines a man with two buckets, one filled with water and the other with oil. Both are full to the brim. You cannot pour oil into the other bucket because it is full. Also, the two would not mix.

Now, imagine that one of those buckets is you and the other is God. He wants to pour His forgiving love into your life but you are holding resentment toward some person and thus you have no room for God. Also God's loving mercy and your unforgiving spirit won't mix. So before you can accept His forgiveness, you must forgive that other person.

'Spirit of Geneva' Was Soviet Tactic

WASHINGTON—Apparently not a single major issue of the cold peace had any chance of being settled at the meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers.

Mr. Molotov made it evident: That the "Spirit of Geneva" was being buried where it was "born" four months ago at the summit conference.

That the "Spirit of Geneva" was a Soviet tactic, not a Soviet state of mind.

That the Kremlin wants to relax the tensions of the cold war without resolving any of the causes of the cold war.

All of this is surprising only to those who thought the Soviet smile meant Soviet willingness to negotiate meaningfully. Geneva has now shown that it did not mean any such thing, rather that the Soviet smile is an instrument of non-negotiation.

But although the foreign ministers are unable to reach any major agreement, they might still reach a minor one at Geneva or by subsequent negotiation — like fuller communication between the Soviet Union and the West, freer exchange of ideas and less censorship.

To this end Secretary Dulles, joined by the foreign ministers of Britain and France, has advanced a constructive, moderate proposal which thus far Mr. Molotov has not rejected. The proposal is that each side permit the other to have a half-hour daily of unjammed airtime so that "the Voice of America," for example, may freely and without interference reach the people of the Soviet Union, and the Soviet radio may address the people of the United States.

Stevenson's Timing Proves Appropriate

CHICAGO—There's never a time to announce a candidacy for a presidential nomination which satisfies all the so-called political experts. When Adlai Stevenson said in early August that he would make known his "decision" about seeking renomination during the month of November, he was criticized for his timing. Among those who were against delay was former President Truman who, indeed, had urged the 1952 Democratic candidate to declare back in June.

But Adlai Stevenson's formal announcement came at possibly the very best time strategically for him. For, though lacking the element of surprise, it nevertheless came as the climax to a series of events favorable to him and on the eve of a three-day Democratic jubilee here sponsored by the Democratic National Committee.

The period of delay has been fruitful.

For the reasons of why he delayed let us go back to early August when he fixed the November date and recall the situation then. At that time almost everybody in politics took it for granted that President Eisenhower would run again. That also was Adlai Stevenson's feeling. This would mean, as it seemed almost certain then, that if he were again the Democratic candidate he would have to take on "the champ," President Eisenhower, who had defeated him decisively once.

That would be no simple chore and the odds were that he might wind up where he did before. Running under such conditions entailed sacrifices. Yet, Mr. Stevenson was willing to undertake the job for his party. He recognized, of course, that while it was a gamble to which a lot of work was attached, it might turn out all right for him through one or another of the fortunes of politics.

He realized, also, that he already had a big count against him as a defeated candidate. His party might prefer another candidate. The only way to find out how the party felt was to open up the whole question and let everybody speak up, which was what he did by setting the time for a decision well in the future. As this reporter wrote when Stevenson announced the November date at his press conference here in August during the annual governors conference, he was, in effect, inviting a "draft" if the party wanted him.

Immediately he began to get messages from all over the country, from party leaders and from rank and file, urging him to say "yes." So the referendum decided for him, and a few weeks ago he began to organize a campaign for the nomination by building up a staff in Chicago.

Meanwhile something else happened which no one expected or could foresee — President Eisenhower's heart attack. With the probability that this would keep the President from running again, the Democratic nomination became much more attractive.

Mrs. Goldstein Dies; Mother Of 2 Dentists

Mrs. A. M. Goldstein, 70, mother of two Atlanta dentists, died of a heart attack Wednesday afternoon at the Mayfair Club, 1456 Spring St., NW, police said.

Pit. R. C. Stevens said Mrs. Goldstein fell from a table at the club. A private physician attributed the death to a heart attack. She lived at 1390 Chalmette Dr., NE.

MOTHER OF DENTISTS

She was the mother of Dr. Irving H. Goldstein and Dr. Marvin C. Goldstein, Atlanta dentists. She was the former Anne Kaufman, and the widow of Avrum Mayer Goldstein.

Born in Poland, Mrs. Goldstein had lived in Atlanta for the past 50 years.

Active in many charitable organizations, Mrs. Goldstein was a member of the Goodwill Women's Club, the Progressive Club, Brandeis, Hadassah, Ahavath Achim Sisterhood and Shearith Israel Synagogue.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Friday at the chapel of Henry M. Blanchard and Son, Rabbi Dr. Harry H. Epstein, Rabbi Tobias Geffen and Cantor Joseph Schwartzman will officiate. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

Other survivors include four daughters, Mrs. Ben W. Rice and Mrs. Sidney Wolf, both of Atlanta, Mrs. William Rottersman of Topeka, Kans., and Mrs. Leon Blum of Cedarhurst, L.I., N.Y.; a sister, Mrs. Etta Cuba of Atlanta.

John E. Stone, Parking Garage Owner, Dies

John E. Stone, 48, owner of the downtown John Stone Garage, died Wednesday night at his home, 450 Argonne Dr., NW.

A native of Dublin, Mr. Stone had been owner of the automobile parking garage about 20 years. A new modern garage was just recently opened at 120 Williams St., NW. He had lived in Atlanta 25 years, having previously lived at Augusta.

Mr. Stone was a member of Peachtree Road Methodist Church.

Survivors include his wife; two daughters, Miss Graham Stone and Miss Virginia Stone, both of Atlanta; mother, Mrs. Lester V. Stone of Augusta; a sister, Mrs. C. J. Walton of Augusta; a brother, Ward Stone of Lincoln.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by H. M. Patterson and Son.

Miss Mickle Attorney, S.C. Native, Dies

Miss Mary McCaa Mickle, 47, of 272 14th St., NE, died Wednesday night in a private hospital.

She had been in ill health for several months and had retired from her position of adjudicator in the claims department of the regional office of the Veterans Administration.

She attended Winthrop College and was graduated from the South Carolina Medical School of Nursing and the Woodrow Wilson College of Law. She received her master's degree in law from John Marshall Law School.

Miss Mickle was born in Camden, S. C. She served as a nurse in North Africa and France during World War II.

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Fannie McCaa Mickle of Arlington, Va.; two sisters, Mrs. Thomas M. Harvey of Arlington and Mrs. William H. Thompson of Camden, S. C. and a brother, John Lewis Mickle.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by Peachtree Memorial Mortuary.

Judges Visit 2 Communities in North Georgia

CANTON, Nov. 16.—Judges in the north Georgia rural community improvement contest visited communities number five and six Wednesday as they headed into the home stretch of this year's contest finals.

Making the longest trips of the week, they traveled from Atlanta to the Akes Community of Polk County early in the morning and then moved across the northern part of the state to the Avery Community of Cherokee County during the afternoon.

Why do they always "rev" the motor of a used car?

Most prospective buyers seem to enjoy "revving up" the motor of a used car that has caught their fancy. Perhaps the reason is that as they accelerate to a high pitch, their confidence in the car goes up too.

But just sheer volume of power can't produce half the assurance you get when the used car you buy is backed by our reputation as a Chevrolet dealer offering warranted satisfaction.

Because, what you really want to know is, does the dealer stand behind the car you buy? We do, with a written warranty on all our OK Used Cars. We're proud of these cars—and back them with our signature. The car that bears the red OK tag has been thoroughly inspected; reconditioned for safety, value and performance. Its price is likely to be lower because we want to maintain a fast turnover to make room for more trade-ins on brand-new Chevrolets. And because of the high volume of Chevrolet sales, your choice of makes and models is greater than ever.

Wilson Cut Off Engines, Bus Competitor Declares

Offers Memo From GM Dealer;
Forced Out, 2 Other Makers Say

By JOHN D. MORRIS
The New York Times News Service

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16—A Senate subcommittee received documentary evidence today of attempts by General Motors to cut off supplies of its diesel engines from competing bus manufacturers.

Testimony and documents to that effect came from the vice president of the corporation's chief competitor in the bus making field, Thomas P. Butler of the Flexible Co., in Loudonville, Ohio. One of the documents indicated that Secretary of Defense Wilson personally had a hand in enforcing such a policy when he was president of GM.

Butler said this and other documents had been taken from his files by the Federal Bureau of Investigation and photostated about a year ago. "For what reason I don't know."

OTHER WITNESSES

Two other witnesses said they were forced out of the bus manufacturing business largely as a consequence of competition from GM, which now produces about 80 per cent of all buses made in this country. They were F. R. Fagol, chairman of the Twin Coach Co., Kent, Ohio, and Charles W. Perelle, former president of ACF Brill, Philadelphia.

The vast financial resources of GM enabling the company to give buyers long-term credit unavailable from competitors or most banks, were cited as a major factor.

Stanley L. Green, president of the Southern Coach Co., Evergreen, Ala., testified he was similarly handicapped in competing with GM. So did Butler.

LINKED BY NOTE
Secretary Wilson was linked to the situation in a 1952 memorandum to Butler from his company's vice president in charge of purchases. It told of a telephone conversation with an official of the Great Lakes Diesel Co., a Cleveland dealer in GM diesel engines, explaining the cancellation of an order for engines to be used in Flexible buses.

The memorandum quoted "Dick Cook" of the Cleveland company as saying: "I have just received a telephone call from the Detroit office stating that orders had come down from Mr. Wilson who had a meeting with other officials in Chicago that we were not to deliver any engines to the Flexible Company because they were competitors of ours."

Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), who is conducting the study, said this undoubtedly referred to Wilson, then GM president. A subsequent letter from the dealer attributed the cancellation to "direction of the Detroit Diesel Division of General Motors."

FAR-REACHING MOVE PUTS MOON ON MARKET

Buy Lot on Moon, Then Get to It If You Can

GLEN COVE, N.Y., Nov. 16 (AP)—A straight-faced claim on the moon was filed in the city clerk's office today by a corporation offering plots there at $1 an acre.

Transportation is not offered. Robert R. Coles, former chairman of the Hayden Planetarium in New York City, filed the claim in behalf of the interplanetary development Corp., of Glen Cove.

He indicated the venture was partly humorous — but partly serious. "Sure, it's a joke," he told a newsman, "but they've been selling square inches of Texas and the Klondike. Why can't we sell the moon by acres?"

Joke or not, the corporation described itself in the claim as a profit-making organization and ready to sell quit claim deeds to designated plots on the moon at $1 an acre.

Coles held that the project would foster education concerning the moon if nothing else. Each purchaser of a deed will get a brochure telling all about the moon.

Coles said he had discussed the plan with lawyers and that they had assured him it was legal in every respect.

As a starter, the corporation will offer plots in one particular crater, known as Copernicus.

The crater consists of 1,937,664 acres. That means the corporation would gross $1,937,664 if all this remote real estate were sold.

Coles said each deed bears a plot number corresponding to a plot marked out on a Copernicus crater map in the corporation office.

The best plots, such as those on level areas rather than crags, will go to the first purchasers, he said.

If Copernicus is sold out, there are 3,200 other craters that can be subdivided on the side of the moon facing the earth.

Coles assured prospective buyers the corporation would not attempt to sell unseen and unmapped land on the side of the moon away from the earth.

Royal 400 Find British Door Open

Court Lifts Bar To Citizenship

The New York Times News Service
LONDON, Nov. 16 — Under a ruling of the Court of Appeals here today more than 400 members of European royalty are entitled to claim British nationality.

Included are every king, queen and ruling prince in Europe with the exception of Prince Ranier of Monaco and the Prince of Liechtenstein and some former rulers like King Michael of Romania and King Peter of Yugoslavia.

The decision, based on a law passed in 1705, specifically upheld the claim to British citizenship of Prince Ernest Augustus of Hanover, 41, grandson of the late Kaiser Wilhelm.

Under the 1705 act, all descendants of Princess Sophia, granddaughter of James I of England and then Electress of Hanover, were naturalized. Another law passed four years earlier had decreed that the Princess or her heirs should succeed to the throne after the death of Queen Anne.

The objects of these acts was to assure Protestant succession to the throne. After the death of Queen Anne, George I succeeded and the line of Hanoverian kings began.

Prince Ernest, who served on the Russian front during World War I as aide de camp to a German army commander, was appealing against the ruling of a lower court that the 1705 law applied only to descendants of Princess Sophia born during the lifetime of Queen Anne.

The Court of Appeals decided no such restriction could be placed on the act.

40 Freed Austrians Reveal Georgian Among 7 Americans in Red Prisons

VIENNA, Austria, Nov. 16 (AP)—Austrians returning from Soviet camps today reported they met seven Americans, a Briton, two Swedes, a Dutchman and a Japanese in Russian captivity.

The 40 Austrians, including a woman, had been held by the Russians as alleged war criminals. They were turned over to Austrian authorities for further prosecution, and the Austrians released them.

Khrushchev, Bulganin Off Today to Asia

The New York Times News Service
MOSCOW, Nov. 16 — Nikita S. Khrushchev, first secretary of the Soviet Communist Party, and Premier Bulganin will leave early tomorrow on a month-long trip to India, Burma and Afghanistan.

Their journey will fulfill the ambition of generations of Russian statesmen who looked to south Asia as a sphere of influence.

By its tactics at the Geneva foreign ministers' conference, the Soviet Union indicated it was content to maintain the status quo in Europe for many years. In southern Asia, however, it appears the Soviet leaders are determined to capitalize on the virtual eclipse of Western power in many countries and the emergence of a nationalist sentiment.

Khrushchev and Bulganin will spend 20 days in India, returning a visit here by Indian Prime Minister Nehru last spring. They will fly to Rangoon for one week as the guests of Premier U Nu, who recently visited the Soviet Union.

6 Convicted In Newnan Liquor Case

Constitution State News Service
NEWNAN, Nov. 16—Tallapoosa nightclub owner William Fred Dryden, his brother, Sam Alta Dryden, and four other persons were found guilty Wednesday of conspiring to violate federal internal revenue laws.

The case went to a jury in federal court here at 11 a.m. The verdict was returned at 2:30 p.m.

Two defendants—James Warren of Tallapoosa and Millard Farlow of Cleburne County, Alabama—were acquitted.

The jury also returned guilty verdicts against Newman Grady Albright, Earl P. Hensley and Edward F. Jackson, all of Tallapoosa, and Luther Tate Conner of Ellijay.

James Warren, Atlanta Negro, was found innocent of any part in the conspiracy, but was found guilty of possessing and transporting non-tax-paid whisky.

Assistant Dist. Atty. John Stokes had accused the Dryden brothers of being ringleaders in a huge liquor operation in Haralson County and in Cleburne County, Alabama.

Federal Judge Boyd Sloan set No. 29 as the date for passing sentence in the cases.

Billy Graham Bible Deals With Our Own Planet

QUESTION: I am a student of the physical sciences. Some of my associates are inclined to believe that there is life on other planets. If there are people who inhabit these planets, what does that do to our faith in the Gospel? Can it be that God is primarily interested in this planet?—B. F.

ANSWER: As a physicist or scientist I cannot answer. However, from my studies in the Scriptures I can find nothing that would change our essential faith in the Gospel if we did discover life on other planets. Our Bible is clearly designed for this particular planet with its particular problem of man's sin.

When we observe this fact, we are on safe ground. It is not a part of the Bible's message to inform us of what God has done elsewhere. Its message is concerned with earth dwellers, their origin, the reason for their existence, the cause of their misery and the plan of redemption for a fallen race.

I am sure that if there were dwellers on other planets, they are either not involved in the sin problem, or else God has made satisfactory provision for them. The God of the universe is the God of our Lord Jesus Christ. He is entirely able to support the entire creation and is able to govern it in righteousness.

ICC Runs Out Of Job Seekers

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission has sent out "help wanted" notices. In a highly unusual announcement, the ICC said it has a number of openings for specialized personnel both here and in other cities. The starting salaries range from $3,670 to $5,440 per year.

The commission said the public announcement was made because the civil service reserve lists for the jobs involved have been cleaned out.

Mexico Boosts Eggs

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 16 (AP)—A government campaign to boost domestic production has resulted in a 20 per cent cut in egg imports from the United States, the National Farm Assn. reports. The saving is 20 million pesos ($1,600,000).

Plans for 3 Slum Projects Go to Aldermen Dec. 5

Development of Buttermilk Bottoms, McDaniel, Atlanta U. Areas Proposed

By HERMAN HANCOCK

City aldermen will get recommendations for the first three redevelopment and blight clearance projects at their Dec. 5 meeting.

That promise was made Wednesday to the joint Atlanta-Fulton County planning board by representatives of George Simons Co., consulting engineers, preparing studies to launch the multi-million-dollar program.

Eric Hill and George Adley of the engineering firm announced the timetable and said recommendations will propose redevelopment in the McDaniel street, Buttermilk Bottoms section in the Butler street area, and in the Atlanta University area.

Hill recommended that the program be entered on a modest scale to examine costs and salability of tracts after they have been cleared.

Col. Wyont Bean, planning engineer, later explained to the board that the consultants might decide, for instance, on "from 8 to 10 blocks in the McDaniel and Buttermilk bottoms areas, and four or more blocks in the university section."

Hill told the board his organization plans to file its recommendations in time for study and action by the board so the entire program can be offered to the aldermen Dec. 5.

Max M. Cuba, board chairman, urged all haste consistent with good engineering.

Hill recommended that a full-time coordinator be employed to keep all interests working at full steam.

The planning board approved seven petitions considered at the same meeting, adverse two and held three for further study.

Adverse were two petitions affecting property on Simpson road near Hightower road, NW. One would have rezoned the tract for commercial use and the other would have permitted establishment of a drive-in theater. Both measures were sponsored by Ald. Milton Farris. Held were petitions affecting sites at Lakewood avenue and Clair drive, SE; Stewart avenue and Perkerson road, SW; and Buford highway, NE, at the SAL railway.

Traffic Court Ruling

City Atty. Jack Savage Wednesday began a study of a state Supreme Court ruling declaring unconstitutional a legislative act permitting Atlanta to try all types of traffic offenses, including drunk drivers, in municipal courts. He said he and his staff may reach some conclusion Thursday on whether a rehearing will be asked.

$57,170 Tank Bid

Southland Pool and Engineering Co. was recommended Wednesday as successful bidder for construction of a foundation for the 5,000,000 gallon water storage tank planned for the Adamsville area. The company bid $57,170 and the aldermanic board's water committee decided to take that recommendation to the aldermen Monday.

Airport Projects

A special meeting of the board of aldermen has been set for 3 p.m. Nov. 30 to accept the best bid for $2,000,000 worth of airport revenue certificates to initiate an $8,000,000 improvement program. The securities are the first airport certificates issued by Atlanta. Bids will be opened at 11 a.m. Nov. 30. The improvement program will include an access road from the South Expressway leg and a terminal costing an estimated $4,000,000.

Crime Court Here Biggest In the Nation

The 60,000 cases booked annually in the criminal division of Atlanta's municipal court make it the largest individual criminal court in the United States.

That Wednesday night was the report of Judges Luke S. Arnold and James Webb, of the court, as they answered criticisms concerning checking of cases.

Arnold told the Aldermanic Board's police committee that 5,000 cases are listed each month, that about 2,000 defendants pay off without a trial, but that more than 3,000 are actually tried each month. The judges said if a legal excuse is offered for checking a trial, the court has no jurisdiction, but must grant a continuance.

Letters from court officials from Chicago, Cincinnati, Dallas, Kansas City, New Orleans, Milwaukee, Memphis, Seattle, Miami and Birmingham were exhibited to show that the criminal division of the municipal court in Atlanta handles more individual cases than any other in the nation. In most of the very large cities precinct courts are maintained.

Arnold also urged that the criminal division, including the probation facilities, be refurbished and enlarged when the $600,000 new traffic court is opened near the City Hall. Present plans contemplate that.

The committee also initiated a movement to pay police officers $100 annually rather than buy the officers two uniforms a year.

Driver Sentenced In $33,070 Holdup

The second of three men accused of the $33,070 Aug. 19 holdup of a Buckhead Jewelry store was convicted of robbery Wednesday in Fulton Superior Court.

Judge Claude D. Shaw sentenced the defendant, Frank Lore, 33, of Sacramento, Calif., to five to 15 years in prison.

Ballet Espanol Brings A Touch of Old Spain

By ALEX JOINER

Ballet Espanol brought a no-holds-barred Spanish fiesta to the stage of the municipal auditorium Wednesday night.

In addition to pure dancing, the Spanish troupe offered a varied fare that included singing, acting, pantomime and some thoroughly delightful slapstick.

Teresa and Luisillo, choreographers and stars of the production, were featured in a number called "El Ciego" which forcefully tells the story of a blind man who regains his sight but asks God to restore his blindness because of the temptations that beset him when he sees.

It was what you might call avant garde Spanish dancing, utilizing interesting lighting effects, a narrator and extremely effective pantomime on the part of Luisillo.

By way of contrast, "Ronda Huertana" told the happy story of how the shyest boy in all the countryside became the king of the harvest. Brilliant costumes and some really splendid comic dancing by both Teresa and Luisillo and the entire company made it an audience favorite.

Mother Hit Her in Class, Teacher Says

A 42-year-old Atlanta housewife was released on bonds totaling $500 Wednesday following arrest on two warrants taken out against her by a Lakewood elementary school teacher.

The woman, Mrs. Eunice Iorio of 198 Adair Ave., SE, posted a $200 bond on charges of assault and battery and a $300 bond on a peace warrant.

A hearing on the warrants was set for 11 a.m. Thursday in Fulton Civil Court.

The warrants were taken out by Mrs. Annette L. Riggins, third grade teacher at the Lakewood Heights Elementary School, who said Mrs. Iorio assaulted her about 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in a classroom while a class was in session.

Mrs. Iorio's son had told her that one of the children at the school had torn the lining of his coat according to court officials. The officials said that they were told that after demanding payment for the damage, she entered the teacher's classroom and assaulted her.

Mrs. Riggins told court officials she was struck on the head, shoulders and back and her blouse was torn.

Court officials said the peace warrant was issued because they were told Mrs. Iorio made threats to "go back and tear the school up."

Commission Fixes '56 Fulton Budget At $16 Million, a Boost of $435,000

By RICHARD ASHWORTH

The Fulton County Budget Commission recommended a 1956 budget Wednesday totaling $16,315,360—about $435,000 higher than 1955 county expenditures.

The budget, as presented to the county commissioners, estimates expenditures will exceed receipts by $778,887. This would reduce the county's cash balance to $863,000 by the end of 1956.

But Comptroller John Still and County Manager A. E. Fuller pointed out that by law the county cannot estimate receipts in the budget higher than the actual amount to be received this year.

They indicated, however, that they feel the 1956 county tax digest will reflect increases in values which will offset entirely the anticipated use of $778,000 from the cash reserve.

The budget includes $927,150 in capital improvements, including funds for extending water mains into outlying county areas, placing whiteway lighting on county highways and courthouse remodeling.

Commissioner James H. Aldredge objected to the drawing of a budget which he said was not "balanced" in receipts and expenditures. He said he "would like to start off with a budget which does not anticipate the use of any of the cash reserve."

Fuller and Still emphasized, however, that anticipation of using cash on hand is required because of the limitation on estimating receipts. The 1955 budget estimated cash reserve would be cut to $900,000, but the county actually will have on hand $1,641,894, he said.

The commissioners also authorized advertisements for a public hearing on the budget Dec. 3. The budget must be approved by the end of January.

In another action, the commissioners rescinded their action of Nov. 9 in awarding contract for construction of an access road and dike at the County Industrial Development. The contract had gone to Dalon Contracting Co., low bidder.

Action was taken after the commissioners were notified that only three of the four required advertisements on receiving bids had been run. The commissioners were told failure to run the ad was inadvertent.

The commissioners authorized re-advertisement of the project for bids.

Dr. Garrison Cites Evangelism for Baptist Growth In Georgia; Atlanta Is Selected for '56 Convention

By DEAN RHODES
Constitution Staff Writer
SAVANNAH, Nov. 16.—An Atlantic Baptist Convention called evangelism, missions and education "strong factors in the growth of Georgia Baptists from 39,000 in 1850 to a present 785,000."

Dr. Searcy S. Garrison, Georgia Baptist Convention executive secretary, made the statement to delegates at the Municipal Auditorium here during the 134th annual convention of the religious group.

However, he called attention to 275,000 non-resident members on church rolls and the failure of churches to enlist "total membership in the total program."

Dr. Garrison estimated that about 48 per cent of the membership attends church, and he said 20 per cent of members give "80 per cent of all church income."

The evening address concluded the second day of the convention, attended this year by about 2,500 delegates.

VOTE EDUCATION AID

Prior to Dr. Garrison's address, delegates heard reports from committees on benevolence and state missions. State missions will get $275,000 in 1956.

In a morning session, devoted largely to Christian education, the convention education commission pledged its "wholehearted support" of the campaign for funds to lift "the level of operation and efficiency on the part of all our educational institutions."

A special allocation of $350,000 from the convention's 1956 budget will go to the six colleges supported by the convention.

CHOOSE ATLANTA SITE

It was announced Wednesday afternoon that the Georgia Baptist Convention next year will be held Nov. 15-19 in Atlanta.

Dr. Dick B. Hall, pastor of the Decatur First Baptist Church, will preach the convention sermon. The Rev. Harold Collins of Donalsonville will serve as alternate.

Trustees of the six Georgia Baptist colleges, of the children's home and hospital, and members of commissions and committees were elected unanimously Wednesday by the convention.

Mercer University, Shorter College, the convention executive committee and the Baptist Children's Home trustees were divided into groups of five with terms of office expiring at intervals over a five-year period, one group each year. Other institutions were requested by the nominating committee to comply.

The list, as submitted by the Rev. Leroy G. Cleverdon of Savannah, chairman of the nominating committee, follows:

3-Year-Old Sees Mother Shot In Cobb County Home; Dad Held

Mrs. Ruth McFall Fortner, 22-year-old Cobb County housewife, was listed in "fair" condition Wednesday at Kennestone Hospital of shotgun wounds, police said, and her husband, Henry Fortner, was charged with assault with intent to murder.

Cobb County police said the shooting occurred in the living room of the Fortner home on Powder Springs road, between Smyrna and the Access Highway.

Police said a 3-year-old son witnessed the shooting.

He's Chef to Thousands —But Never for Wife

By MARJORY SMITH

James Glassen has cooked for strangers all over the United States and Europe—never for his wife here.

When the hotel chef takes off his tall white cap at the end of the day and heads for home (192 Conway, Decatur), he has no idea what he'll have for supper.

James Glassen

But his pretty wife, Myrtle, is likely to feed him "something I wouldn't take the time and trouble to fix for myself"—chicken paprika, apple strudel, or blitzen, those tender, butter-oozing little French pancakes stuffed with fresh strawberries.

Glassen, 36, is a descendant of an Austrian family proud of its six generations of chefs. He has worked in kitchens since he was 10. He won a 14-inch chef's cap after a long apprenticeship, that took him to France, Sweden, Austria, Italy, England and Germany.

Glassen's father was a chef at New York's famed Waldorf-Astoria. The son today supervises work of 15 cooks and more than 75 other workers in the Dinkler Plaza's huge kitchen, which may feed 4,000 in a day.

Here bubbling stock pots hold gallons of succulent liquor from which soups and gravies are "started." More than 400 foil-wrapped potatoes are baked in one batch. Giant buffet hams by the dozen are glazed with marvelous designs of grapes and pineapple rounds. "Food banks" keep entire banquets fresh.

Administration rather than cooking is Glassen's job now. He prepares menus, "tastes," supervises, steps in only for very special dishes.

But he still remembers the days when he actually prepared food for as many as 1,200 persons. His "chef's Bible"—books by Escoffier and Hertzler plus "The Gourmet"—are always at hand.

And at home, fondling a frisky little dachshund named "Schatze," Glassen sighs:

"Americans are the hardest people to cook for. They are always in a hurry. They never have the leisure that fine cuisine demands."

LIFTED from Atlanta Kiwanis Club's weekly news bulletin: "Money isn't everything, but it's 'way ahead of whatever is in second place.'"

FOUR-YEAR-OLD, asked by fond aunt "what she and baby sister played today," looked back over the hectic hours and reported solemnly, "We played dancing school, doll baby, Roy Rogers and Trigger, soda-pop, candy and hunky-man!"

Griffin Looks Over Adlai To Platform

Gov. Marvin Griffin Wednesday expressed mild approval of Adlai Stevenson but said he is more interested in the 1956 Democratic platform right now than in the presidential nominee.

And he expressed belief the platform will be acceptable to the South.

Beyond saying that he likes Stevenson, Griffin declined to comment directly on his announcement as a candidate for the nomination.

But the governor, an ardent advocate of segregation who controls the state party machinery, added he is "interested in the platform, what the nominee will stand on."

He said "our folks are interested in a platform which guarantees constitutional government as opposed to Supreme Court edict, one which will protect the sovereignty of the state, one designed to maintain the integrity of both races, both colored and white."

Supporting his belief that such a platform is possible, Griffin said "I don't think the northern wing of the party is going to try to gag us with a strong civil rights platform. They now realize that they will have to have the South to win."

Griffin also voiced the opinion that during the coming presidential campaign, the battle ground will be in the agricultural midwest.

Times Librarian Cites Growth of Special Setups

Chester M. Lewis, chief librarian for The New York Times, outlined for Georgia members of the Special Libraries Assn. Wednesday night plans for continued growth.

The association president said the organization had grown from 40 libraries in industrial, commercial and institutional fields in 1909 to more than 2,500 in 1953.

"A proposed consultation service could be an aid nationally and regionally in developing libraries," he said. "It could be instrumental in improving existing libraries, creating new libraries which indirectly widen employment opportunities in the field, creating a demand for more special librarians which in turn could enlarge our membership."

DeKalb Arrestee Gets Life Term

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION
OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 16—A 19-year-old Oklahoma City youth, arrested by DeKalb County, Ga., police Oct. 13, Wednesday was sentenced to four life terms on charges stemming from a violent night of crime here Oct. 3.

The youth, Gerald Wayne Gadd, pleaded guilty to two charges of armed robbery, a kidnapping charge and rape.

Gadd was arrested in DeKalb County after a gun battle with police.

Lottery Suspect Gets Assist From Dog

DET. E. H. SCOTT likes dogs. But Scott is sure the canine he encountered Wednesday wasn't a police dog.

Scott spotted a lottery suspect on Northside drive, NW, and gave chase across a yard and past a dog house.

A chained dog watched the suspect race past. Then he dashed out and seized the detective's right leg.

Scott went to Grady Hospital for treatment. The suspect escaped.

Cuts Off Fingers To Save Arm

SPRINGFIELD, Nov. 16 (AP)—An Effingham County farmer who amputated four of his own fingers in order to free his arm from a corn harvesting machine is in satisfactory condition, physician report.

The patient was identified as Paul Wilson of the Stillwell community.

Wilson's arm became entangled when he attempted to clear trash from the harvester while working alone in a deserted field. With the machine "about to tear his arm off," physicians said, Wilson amputated four fingers with a pocket knife in order to free himself, made a crude tourniquet of twine, uncoupled the corn picker and rode the tractor two miles for aid.

He is at home now, and his condition "improving," it was reported.

Fire Destroys Oakland School East of Ellijay

Constitution State News Service
ELLIJAY, Nov. 16—Fire swept through the Oakland School seven miles east of Ellijay early Wednesday night, destroying eight classrooms, a library and auditorium.

Gilmer County School Superintendent Bryan Parks estimated replacement cost at $150,000. Insurance coverage was $75,000. Plans for reconstruction will be discussed Thursday at a special meeting of the county school board.

An annex recently completed at a cost of $83,000 was undamaged. It housed two classrooms and a cafeteria.

Parks said two classes will continue the school term in the annex and that the other eight classes will be temporarily divided between Ellijay and East Ellijay schools.

Dalton Strike Off; Griffin Denies 'Busting'

Gov. Griffin denied state authorities engaged in "union busting" in a CIO strike which was called off Wednesday at General Latex and Chemical Corp. at Dalton.

Such charges were made by union representatives who said they were abandoning the nine-week-old walkout in favor of an unfair labor practices complaint to the National Labor Relations Board against the company.

Griffin said that the authorities were concerned only with "maintaining peace and order" and that is why state troopers were ordered to the plant on Oct. 11.

"I regret the incidents of violence which have occurred there," he declared, "and hope they will cease. When all violence has ceased, the state patrolmen will be removed."

A General Latex spokesman said that with the withdrawal of pickets about half of the some 40 strikers reported for work and "a number—but not a majority of them—have been hired back." The spokesman said company policy is to rehire any striker who applies individually and whose job has not already been filled.

The strike, part of a CIO move to organize the north Georgia chenille or tufted textile industry, began Sept. 12 on a union complaint that five workers were fired for union activity.

4-H'ers to Chicago

After more than 40 years with the University of Georgia College of Agriculture, E. C. Westbrook has retired as agronomist for the Agricultural Extension Service, . . . Sheriff W. M. Jones of Long County said Wednesday he welcomes any help the state will send him after Gov. Marvin Griffin had ordered the State Patrol "to protect life and property" during the county's Nov. 23 primary election in answer to a petition of more than 300 citizens of the county seeking state protection against possible violence. . . . Boys and girls from 23 Georgia counties—the cream of 4-H members—will represent the state at the Na-

Held in Crash

William Howard Rush, 24, of Athens, was held Wednesday on an involuntary manslaughter charge in connection with a highway crash near Anderson, S. C., in which Charlie Shirley, 53, and Barbara Jean Stewart, 6 months, both of Commerce, and Ruby Burdette, 20, of Anderson, were killed. . . . The execution of Harold E. Hill, who was to die in the electric chair Friday for the slaying of an Augusta grocer in 1954, has been postponed for the fifth time by a writ of habeas corpus. . . . Home coming activities at Sandersville High School Friday will include crowning a home coming queen, a parade through the town and a dance in the school gymnasium. . . . Mountain Cove Farms of Kensington will exhibit a purebred herd of 12 Hereford cattle in the 56th annual International Livestock Exposition in Chicago Nov. 25-Dec. 3.

New Loan Law Due To Net $500,000 Yearly

The state treasury probably will net about $500,000 a year from Georgia's new industrial loan law, Commissioner Zack Cravey said Wednesday. He listed the collections as $56,967 in taxes, $387 in penalties, $2 in interest on delinquent

The $56,967 in taxes would indicate interest collections by the small loan companies of $1,898,917 in the four-month period. A three per cent tax was put on the companies by the special tax-raising session of the Legislature and would have applied to all their collections. But Gov. Griffin suspended the tax on all of the company collections except interest charges.

State Health Department Costs Rise, But Hold Below Expenses for 1953

Cost of operating the Georgia Health Department rose during 1953, but did not exceed the department's cost for 1952. Expenditures for the department last fiscal year were $11,909,707. In 1953, the cost hit $16,508,238. The report made public by State Auditor B. E. Thrasher Jr., $3,988,969 on the Augusta General Hospital, and this dropped to $870,590 during the past fiscal year to account for most of the difference. The state government appropriated $7,709,380 to the department last fiscal year. The federal government put up $4,932,535. The Kellogg Fund grant totalled $29,420. The department collected a total of $64,844 in fees, and turned them over to the state treasury.

A Business Success Can Flunk as a Dad

Frank T., 24, has just finished four years in the Marine Air Corps.

His father is a wealthy manufacturer who always wanted Frank to follow in his paternal footsteps and operate the family factory.

But Frank's interests didn't lie in that field, so friction developed, even while Frank was a high schooler.

And after Frank left for college, his father and mother obtained a divorce.

Frank hadn't seen his father for two years, until he recently came back to his home town.

LITTLE VISIT

So he called at his father's office, to have a little visit.

"Hello, Frank. It's nice seeing you," his father greeted him, and Frank said, "Hi, Dad."

After a couple of minutes of casual conversation, somewhat stilted because of the gap that had developed between the two, his father said:

"Well, I must be going now for I have an appointment. Glad you dropped in to see me," and he put on his hat and left.

Frank hadn't expected his dad to roll out the velvet carpet or greet him like a long lost prodigal son.

"But it did seem to me he might have shown a little more interest in what I was doing and my future plans," he grumbled.

"So I'll never visit him again. He can go his own way and I'll go mine."

"I can get along without him and he apparently doesn't need me for anything. Isn't that right, Dr. Crane?"

DAD'S FLUNK OUT

Suppose I were to ask you readers to diagnose this case and prescribe a solution. What would you say?

Frank's dad is an educated man. He finished four years of college. He has made a great deal of money. He operates a large mill.

But is he a successful father? Or is he flunking out?

Remember, you can be a very talented lawyer or businessman or even a top-notch teacher or clergyman, yet not be a successful father.

Indeed, the Bible is full of stories about leading men who weren't very outstanding as dads to their children.

Adam's first two sons feuded until Cain murdered his brother Abel.

Isaac's sons were hostile to each other, especially after Jacob stole Esau's birthright, so maybe Isaac wasn't very successful on my "Tests for Parents" mentioned below.

And David likewise could have profited from those same tests, for his sons feuded with him, as well as with their brothers and sisters. Absalom thus slew Amnon, after the latter had assaulted Absalom's sister.

FATHERS, BEWARE

The Bible says that a rich merchant went to Hades, and then begged Abraham to send a messenger back to earth to warn his wealthy brothers to mend their ways.

Many a modern father may someday feel the same way. After he wins a fortune in cash but is then nursing his peptic ulcer while sitting in a deck chair of a ship, en route to a health spa, maybe he wishes he could roll time backward and

GOREN on Bridge

By CHARLES H. GOREN

Neither vulnerable. South deals. at least five spades, it appeared that the hand could be won only by resort to the "confidence game."

If West had led from a holding containing the ace of spades, South saw that he had a remote chance to steal the contract. He put up the queen in dummy and promptly led a low diamond, finessing the 10. West was in with the queen and was faced with a difficult problem in defense. Though East had played the six of spades, obviously a high card, at trick one, West could not read that declarer's king was now bare. West realized that his partner held the jack, but South's original holding might easily have been K-3-2.

So he decided on a neutral defense by getting out with a diamond, hoping that partner could eventually get in to come through declarer's king of spades. South won and ran for cover with his nine tricks.

The bidding was mildly aggressive. South's jump rebid to two no trump falls one point short of the 19 points required by the standard texts, but he did have a high quality of points as well as two impressive looking 10s. North having seven points in high cards properly proceeded to game.

West opened the 10 of spades and declarer observed that he had no reasonable play for his contract. Even if he could bring in the entire club suit it would still be necessary to run three heart tricks without surrendering the lead—an unlikely prospect. Since one of the adversaries had to have

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VANDELLEN

No Miracle Remedy For Postnasal Drip

Postnasal drip is one of the commonest ailments of mankind. Mucus from the nose collects in back of the throat at the point of the gag reflex and the victim coughs, gags or vomits in an attempt to dislodge it. Many spend considerable time hacking, particularly in the morning.

The membranes of the nose and throat usually are covered by a thin layer of mucus that protects the lining and keeps it clean. As the secretion accumulates, it usually slides down the back of the throat and is swallowed. In this respect, a certain amount of postnasal drip is normal.

When a cold develops, the secretion increases and becomes thicker. The same occurs when the sinuses are involved but most of the purulent material does not drip into the throat; it is eliminated by blowing the nose. The mucus that gathers as a result of nasal allergy seldom adheres to the back of the throat.

Those who are bothered most generally are healthy. They have had their sinuses X-rayed and the nose and throat investigated thoroughly and no abnormality could be found. The mucus that accumulates is too sticky to escape spontaneously and the person struggles to dislodge it by gagging, hacking, or vomiting.

What makes mucus stick this way? When there is no evidence of infection, we may consider causes such as nervousness and changes in atmosphere. Many northerners are bothered chiefly in and out of overheated and underhumidified offices and homes. Others develop trouble when they use stimulants like whisky, coffee, or tea. Smoking may do the same.

Now and then an emotional origin is responsible. It is well known that some persons perspire more profusely than others and have more saliva and gastric juice. The production of these secretions is controlled by the automatic nervous system and so are the mucus secreting glands in the nose.

It is reasonable to assume that during periods of excitement, anxiety and frustration the amount and consistency of mucus are altered. The endocrine glands, especially the thyroid, have a similar effect. But despite modern medical progress, victims of postnasal drip must resort to remedies of a generation ago.

The physicians of that time appreciated the value of good general health for individuals with nasal discomfort. They were told to exercise, bathe frequently, get out into the fresh air, eat more fruits and vegetables, and drink more water. Then, as now, no magic spray or pill was available to cure postnasal drip.

The Child Nobody Knows

By MARY DENMARK

The child nobody knows is the retarded child—the youngster who for some reason has suffered a setback in his mental development.

He's one of nearly five million in the United States—one of more than 7,000 in the Greater Atlanta area.

And if he's fortunate, he may be one of the 300 children who are receiving training in public or privately supported schools in and around Atlanta.

About 40 of these boys and girls are enrolled at Fairhaven School, operated by the Georgia Association for the Help of Retarded Children.

OPENED IN 1953

Fairhaven first opened its doors in 1953, and for two years the school was housed in quarters provided by the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer.

Space, however, was limited, and fewer than 30 youngsters could be accommodated in two rooms that had to serve as playroom, classroom and dining hall.

But this fall Fairhaven moved to a new home, the Variety Club's camp at Mountain View. Here each age group meets in its own classroom. A screened porch provides a spot where the children can work off excess energy.

And there's a large dining hall apart from the classrooms where three mothers of Fairhaven children prepare and serve hot lunches every day.

The staff is larger, too. In addition to the director, Mrs. Robert Chenoweth, there are four full-time teachers.

One teacher, Mrs. Roy Lyle, who directs the 6-to-13 age group, works there because her two children are enrolled there.

Her son David, 3½, has become quite an extrovert in his year there, Mrs. Lyle said. Daughter Sherry, on the other hand, has calmed down somewhat and is learning to talk.

But the big story of Fairhaven is not its improved facilities, but the improvement that's apparent in the youngsters.

"The most startling change is in one particular girl," Mrs. Chenoweth said. "When she started school she couldn't speak, she hated strangers and she didn't care much for wearing clothes."

"Now she can talk. She can recognize some colors and letters. And visitors don't bother her."

In others, the change is perhaps less dramatic, but children who once couldn't feed themselves can handle a spoon with the best. Others have learned letters and numbers—some up to fifth-grade level.

And what progress the children will continue to make can only be speculated upon, Mrs. Chenoweth said.

So far, two children from Fairhaven have "graduated" into regular classes in the public schools. Another 15 are in the classes for special children.

DRIVE CHAIRMAN

Maj. George Swerdloff, whose daughter is one of the fortunate 300 who are receiving schooling, is chairman of the fund drive now being conducted by the Greater Atlanta chapter of the association.

The concern of the association, he said, is not so much the children already in school, but the 6,700 "lost" children.

"I feel that with proper training all retarded children can be helped," Maj. Swerdloff said.

"What we need at the start is a diagnostic clinic where parents can learn exactly what is wrong with their child."

"Also, the association wants expansion of day school facilities. Fairhaven is our only landmark so far, and it's not operating at full capacity."

"We need more classes in the public schools, and we need a residential center or a boarding school."

"And people must face the fact that retarded children will become retarded adults with a fairly normal life span. These people need sheltered workshops with proper supervision where they can make themselves useful."

'Miss Toys for Tots' Adds Sparkle To Marine Corps 1955 Campaign

By BETTY CARROLLTON

There's added sparkle in the Marine Corps 1955 Toys for Tots campaign.

For the first time, a high school student has been chosen official representative for the campaign in the Atlanta area.

Miss Sandra May, attractive 17-year-old senior at Sylvan High, has been crowned "Miss Toys for Tots of 1955" and will lend a helping hand to Atlanta Marines during their efforts to make Christmas happier for needy youngsters.

NO CASH ASKED

The annual Toys for Tots undertaking, sponsored by Marine Corps reserve units throughout the United States, is run on a non-cash basis. All contributions requested are toys, old or new. The old ones are repaired as needed.

The toys are then distributed to welfare agencies in group lots, to be given to youngsters who otherwise would have no Christmas gifts.

All the toys collected in the Atlanta area are distributed to children in this area.

Last year, the Marines were joined by men and women of the Loyal Order of the Moose in their campaign. This year, the Shell Oil Co. is a member of the Toys for Tots team and will furnish 80 collection points.

The repairing and refinishing of the toys, as last year, will be done at the Marine Corps Reserve Training Center, 1014 Edgewood Ave., NE, by Marine reservists and members of the Moose.

The program of repairs includes welding broken parts, rebuilding and repainting toys, new hair styles and new wardrobes for dolls collected and any other work needed to turn out a "new" attractive article for an appreciative child.

Sandra plans to pitch right in to help finish the work in plenty of time for distribution.

"I'm going to roll up my sleeves and dig in," she said. "I'm very proud to be even a small part of such a fine program."

"Miss Toys for Tots" has been reading up on the results of last year's campaign and has facts and figures available at the drop of a chevron.

23,000 LAST YEAR

"In the Atlanta area last year," she reported, "the Marine reservists and members of the Moose donated more than 23,000 toys to the DeKalb and Fulton welfare departments, the Salvation Army, local orphanages and to various ministers."

"This year, we hope to do even better."

She also recalled the beginning of the Toys for Tots program in Los Angeles in 1948. Several Marine reservists were discussing lack of any concerted program for providing a happier Christmas for the underprivileged children of that area.

The result of their bull session was the decision to apply military planning and organization to the collection of toys for the needy. The program was tagged "Toys for Tots" and consisted of a systematic collection, refinishing and distribution of toys by Marine reservists in their spare time. The program was to be at no cost to the government and no monetary contributions were solicited.

CONTRIBUTIONS

Business firms and individuals contribute broken lots of paint, items of hardware and other materials used in preparing the toys. Cash contributions are discouraged and anyone desiring to give money is asked to buy and donate either toys or repair materials.

"The program today," Sandra pointed out, "is exactly the same, except that it has grown to include 270 cities."

Sandra, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eldridge May, is captain of the Sylvan majorettes. She is a member of the basketball team, Beta Club, Junior Civitans, Dramatics Club, Quill and Scroll and is advertising manager of the school yearbook.

Information on the Toys for Tots campaign may be obtained by calling the Marine Corps Reserve, 1014 Edgewood Ave., NE.

Willis Everett To Address Women Lawyers

The Georgia Association of Women Lawyers will meet for dinner on Thursday at 6 p.m. at the Peachtree on Peachtree Hotel. Miss Anne Hyer Smith will preside.

The guest speaker will be Willis M. Everett Jr., Atlanta attorney, who will discuss "Democracy on Parade in War Crime Trials."

Miss Geneva Garner will present biographical sketches of two members of the association.

Tobe Says

Heads Up With 'Diamond Clips'

Now that so many women—especially the smart younger set—are wearing their hair twisted up in a French oil, they've found that they may wear jeweled clips in it again. For of course it was impossible to anchor clips in the Italian boy cut, and so a very pretty and flattering fashion fell into limbo for a while.

The new fad is to wear one or two "diamond" clips almost exactly on the top of the head—near the back. If only one, it may be fairly large. If two, they should be medium in size.

Unread Gifts Dreadful Waste

Although I'm not what you would call a member of the shop-early cult, there's one thing about it: If you're going to give books for Christmas, you'd better get them now so you can get them read before you have to wrap them up.

There may be people who buy books to give others and send them off all pristine clean and unread, but that seems a dreadful waste to me. Besides, until you've read it, how do you know its fitten to give away?

Three new books have come to hand lately and I hastily tackled them with the idea of finding out if they were good gift material and for whom.

"Around the Year With the Trapp Family" is an interesting book by the mother of that vast family of German singers. Starting with the days before Christmas, Maria Augusta Trapp tells how her family observed all the religious holidays in the Roman Catholic calendar. She gives words and music of favorite songs, recipes for favorite dishes and how-to information on gifts and decorations.

The Trapps came to this country when Hitler's regime took over in their own and Mrs. Trapp's description of how she kept them together and made them feel at home in a strange land is very appealing. She compared the big family's exodus to America to the removal of a big tree, pointing out that the tree survives only when a substantial part of its home earth has been moved with it.

She and her family brought with them to nourish and fortify them a great many of their native customs. They have traveled all over America in a big bus, singing concerts in every major city and many small ones, but somehow they have continued with their cherished holiday observances.

Many of the Trapp family's customs would enrich any family's home celebrations. Some, of course, would not be acceptable to families of different religious beliefs. Still it is an interesting book, particularly at this season.

The second book was one I didn't like so I'll skip it. ("The Golden Journey" by Agnes Sligh Turnbull—one of those complicated and who-cares-anyhow romances. I'd rather have a cookbook or a seed catalogue.)

The third is a book by a pretty young Rome, Ga., mother, written for her children—"My Children's Stories" by Cheney Bradshaw Donahue.

If you have a child on your list you'll want to investigate Mrs. Donahue's four animal stories, originally made up for her six-year-old, Al, and her three-and-a-half, Trudy. They are painless reading, even for adults, which is a handy thing, I find.

(You never can tell when you're going to be trapped into reading aloud. I'll always be grateful to LeGrand Henderson for getting up through measles, mumps and chickenpox at our house with the Augustus books. Not since Tom Sawyer and Huck Finn has there been a child's adventure story so palatable to adults as LeGrand's Augustus series.)

But to get back to Cheney Donahue's book. She brought it out at the suggestion of her little boy who so loved the story of Cocoa and Roscoe, the elephant and the monkey who left the jungle and got stuck in a supermarket, that he begged her to put it in a book. Included are stories of "Quack-Quack," the curious duck, "Jo-Jo," the impatient baby elephant, and Mr. and Mrs. Squirrel, the thrifty woodland couple, who shared their food with their friends.

Brought up on a farm near Rome, Cheney Bradshaw was graduated from Sullins College and married Arthur L. Donahue Jr. in 1945. She is 29 years old. When she is not homemaking and child-rearing she is writing. She also collects antiques.

One advantage in a book like "My Children's Stories" is that it has been child-tested before publication on the author's own children. So you really don't have to sit up and finish it before wrapping it up if you don't want to. Personally, I think you'd enjoy it.

Annie Lou Hardy Rayle Home Scene Of Family Reunion

A grand reunion took place at the Channing place home of Dr. and Mrs. Albert Rayle Jr. this week on the arrival of the latter's sister, Mrs. Edgar F. Prochnik Jr., and her small son, Jimmy, of Milan, Italy.

It was the first meeting of the two sisters since Mrs. Prochnik's marriage in Paris. Mrs. Prochnik, the former Martha Holman, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Holman of Cleveland, Ohio, were traveling in Europe two years ago, and when they flew into Rome they were met at the airport by Mr. Prochnik whom Martha had known briefly in Cleveland.

A romance ensued, with Mr. Prochnik pleading his cause in most of the European capitals. At the end of the tour the pair was married in Paris before Mr. and Mrs. Holman returned home. The Prochniks have been living in Milan where Mr. Prochnik is representative in Italy for the National Carbon Co.

They arrived in the States with their baby son in September for a five-month vacation and the first visit home since their marriage.

A NEW YORK VISITOR is Miss Nina Rahr who is the guest of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. James R. White on Peachtree road. Miss Rahr accompanied Mrs. White home when the latter went to New York to meet her mother, Mrs. William F. Spalding who landed a week ago after a Mediterranean cruise.

MAJ. GEN. JOSEPH BURGER arrives today from Washington, D.C., to be the guest of Col. and Mrs. John F. Hough at 739 Greenview Ave. Gen. Burger is director of all Marine Corps Reserves.

This afternoon the visitor will be honored at a cocktail party at the Officers' Club of the Naval Air Station. He and Col. Hough are friends of long standing, having been K.A. fraternity brothers at the University of Maryland.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES O'H. SANDERS leave tomorrow to spend the winter in Mexico. During their absence their Blackland road home will be occupied by Mrs. John J. Wilkins of Athens.

The Atlantans will be in Mexico City for the colorful festivities of the Christmas season. Later they will visit Mexico's archeological ruins, art museums and the concert halls where leading artists and symphonies may be heard. They will also spend some time on the beaches of the Gulf of Mexico and the Pacific coast.

BENJAMIN T. DAUGHERTY of Bowling Green, Ky., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Mercer Poole on W. Wesley road until after his marriage to Miss Dorothy Crosland on Nov. 25.

Miss Crosland and her fiancé left yesterday for a brief visit to her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Murray of Albany. They will return on Friday.

LEAVING TODAY for Durham, N.C., are Mr. and Mrs. Alex McLennan and Mr. and Mrs. William Hanger to attend the marriage of their cousin, Miss Mary Teer, to Russell Barringer on Friday evening.

The foursome will be guests in Durham of their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Wright.

JUST BACK after an 18-month residence in Alaska are Mr. and Mrs. Jamie Jester who are visiting the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Adams, on North Avenue. The couple spent the time at Fairbanks, Haines and other points where Mr. Jester was connected with a pipeline.

They will go to Bainbridge to be guests for Thanksgiving of Mr. Jester's brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Jester. Mrs. Jamie Jester is the former Rebecca Adams of Atlanta.

MISS PAT STARNES, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Starnes, was recently elected vice president of the freshman class at Florida State University. Miss Starnes is a member of the Tri Delta Sorority.

BRIDE-ELECT ANNE LYON will be honor guest today when Mrs. George F. Klugh, Mrs. C. M. McLaughlin, Mrs. Milton Berry and Mrs. Harold K. Tinsley entertain at tea at Mrs. Klugh's home at 395 Tenth street.

Miss Lyon's marriage to the Rev. James R. Crook Jr. is scheduled for Friday, Nov. 25.

ADM. STANTON W. SALISBURY, USN, Ret., arrives tomorrow from Ft. M. Washington, D.C., for a visit to Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Ackiss at 332 N. Colonial Homes Cir., N.E. He is en route to Florida on business for the Presbyterian Board.

TEA FOR THREE—Mrs. Chris McLoughlin, left, and Mrs. Hal Davison chat with Harry Kruger, assistant conductor of the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra, over the tea cups following the first of a series of illustrated lectures sponsored by the Symphony Guild. The lecture on "Modern Music," given by Mr. Kruger, was held at Mrs. McLoughlin's Hillside drive home. Mrs. Davison is chairman for the lecture series.

Gen. Brougher To Address Writers Club

Gen. W. E. Brougher, publicity director of the Atlanta Crackers, will be the speaker at the Atlanta Writers Club Thursday. The topic for discussion will be "Equality."

The meeting will be held in the ballroom of the Atlanta Woman's Club at 6:45 p.m. Mrs. Otis H. Wesley will preside.

Other speakers for the evening will be Dr. John R. Lewis, poet and surgeon, and Mrs. John Pfeiffer.

Dr. Lewis will entertain the audience with his experiences as a naval officer at Pearl Harbor during World War II, and will read some of his original poems.

Mrs. Pfeiffer, who has recently returned from Boston and New York, will discuss literary trends and editors' needs.

Saintpaulia Club To Meet Thursday

Saintpaulia Study Club will meet at 11:30 a.m. Thursday at the home of Mrs. William Brooker Jr., at 4111 Mabry Dr., N.W. Co-hostess will be Mrs. A. W. McCormick.

Members will bring African violets in unusual containers and new varieties will be discussed. A nominating committee will be elected.

Frat at Tech To Break Ground

A ground-breaking ceremony will be held at 3 p.m. Sunday for the new home of the Georgia Tech chapter of the Alpha Epsilon Phi Fraternity at the corner of Techwood Dr. and Third St.

Col. Blake Van Leer, Tech president, will make a brief talk, and Dave Goldwasser and Harry Moscow, prominent alumni who have made the house possible, will turn the ground. Chapter President Alan Salzman will welcome the guests.

Designed by Paul M. Herferman, senior professor of architecture at Tech, the house will be extremely modern, with a split-level living room, an outdoor dance pavilion, and a balcony completely around the second floor which will be enclosed with wooden louvers. The chapter room, lounge and dining room will have plate-glass walls.

ATLANTA ARTIST BEGINS AWARD COLLECTION
Miss Dolores Kennedy Plans Own Show for 1956

Atlantan, An Artist Only Since 1949, Has Good Start on Award Collection

By YOLANDE GWIN

There is a black door with white panels inside a small building off Crescent avenue and a visitor there sees the name, Dolores Kennedy, in small letters in the center.

This is the entrance to the one-room studio, also done in black and white, of Miss Kennedy, who, despite her youthful years, has already started collecting art awards.

"I've always wanted to paint," she said. "Even when I was a little girl I painted paper dolls. I really didn't start real art, though, until 1949."

FIRST HONOR IN 1954

Miss Kennedy, who lives at 1160 E. Rock Springs Rd., N.E., captured her first honor in 1954 when she won second place in the Southeastern Art Show here. Her entry, "The Window," was an oil and attracted wide attention and admiration.

In the 1955 show she entered a water color, "The Bottles," and won first prize in that category.

She also holds an honorable mention prize of $600 offered in an art fund competition which is a part of a traveling exhibition now at the Atlanta Art Institute.

Miss Kennedy spends many hours working in her one-room studio, but finds time to make all her own clothes, collect records and follow the architectural work and ideas of Frank Lloyd Wright.

And how does Miss Kennedy glean inspiration for her work? "I remember things, people and events of my life and paint from memory a great part of the time," she said. "I work from still life, too."

"LIVE BY MY PAINTING"

The slim pretty young artist who says she would like to "live by my painting," thinks that a career in art for anybody is a long, hard and serious business.

"It's not just picking up a paint brush and dabbling in oils or water colors to see what happens and what appears on the canvas. It takes time and thought. Right now I'm planning my first one-man show in January."

So from now on Miss Kennedy will be picking up her brush and dabbling in oils and water colors. And an interesting feature is that she will pick up the brush and paint with her left hand!

Miss Sutton Is Bride of Mr. Grimsley

At a Sunday afternoon ceremony solemnized at the Druid Hills Baptist Church by Dr. Louie D. Newton, Miss Doris Sutton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Sutton, became the bride of Russell Grimsley, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Grimsley.

Wearing a ballerina of rose-point lace over taffeta, the bride was attended by her sister, Miss Joanne Sutton, as maid of honor, and Miss Mayme Lou Bradshaw as bridesmaid.

Carroll Grimsley was best man for his brother, Kurt J. Grimsley, A. H. Van Brackle Jr. and John B. Wise ushered.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Sutton entertained at a reception in the church social hall.

Upon their return from a wedding trip, the couple will reside in Jacksonville where Mr. Grimsley is stationed with the U.S. Navy.

The Gentle, Effective Cream Deodorant

NEW DISCOVERY SHAMPOOS YOUR HAIR WITHOUT WATER

Cold Sufferers Get Clean Hair In 10 Minutes. Remove Dirt and Grease, Restore Waves and Curls.

New York, N.Y. (Special) Thousands of cold sufferers may have reason to cheer today—thanks to the first successful method of "shampooing" hair without water. A unique formulation of cleansing ingredients in powder form is now available under the name of Minipoo.

Minipoo is not just a hair-cleanser in the ordinary sense. It is especially designed for use of cold and sinus sufferers, hospital patients and other persons prevented by illness from wetting their hair. It combines cleansing and deodorizing agents in fine, light powder form for easy use. Brushed lightly and quickly through the hair, Minipoo removes dirt, dust and accumulated grease in minutes, leaving the hair silky and alive with high-lights. Minipoo helps restore original springiness to waves and curls... helps keep hair natural and fresh looking.

When unexpected dates occur, Minipoo freshens the hair in a matter of minutes; leaves it soft, shiny, and free from odor and excess oil. Waves and curls "come back to life"—your hair looks and feels as if it had just been washed and set at a beauty parlor.

Minipoo will be a delight to cold sufferers, hospital patients and travelers—and it's economical too! 30 shampoos cost just $1.00. Get Minipoo at your drug-store today.

Sta-Puf BIG HIT WITH MOTHERS—No More Wash-Hardened Clothes!

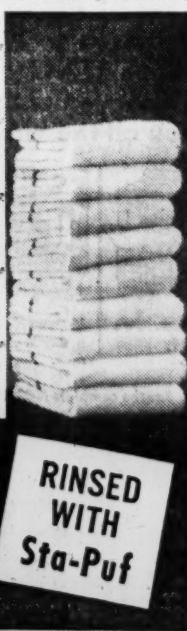

A Miracle for Diapers! STA-PUF makes diapers and baby clothes petal-soft as baby's tender skin itself. Prevents diaper irritation due to chafing. No more scratchy stiffness, even when you wash in hardest water. And STA-PUF makes diapers far easier to pin. No strong finger-pressure needed. Life is far easier for baby—and you—with STA-PUF on the job. Used by leading diaper laundries and hospitals. Kind to skin—kind to hands. Protects fabrics—clothes last longer.

Greatest Washday Discovery in 100 years! Not a soap, not a detergent, not a water softener. STA-PUF is a totally new kind of washday product unlike anything ever known before. All you do is pour a little STA-PUF into your final rinse water and presto!—everything comes so soft and fluffy that you can hardly believe your eyes! Harsh, "boardy" bath towels fluff up like magic! Wash-stiffened baby clothes and sweaters lose their irritating scratchiness in a jiffy! And even inexpensive muslin sheets come out feeling like percale! STA-PUF is perfect for use in tubs, automatics or regular washing machines. And clothes come off the line almost wrinkle-free—are far easier to iron!

THE

RINSED WITH Sta-Puf

You SEE the Difference! The bath towels on the left were rinsed the ordinary way—while the towels on the right (rinsed with STA-PUF) are more than half again as thick. This is visible proof of the washday wonders that STA-PUF performs.

You FEEL the Difference! Bath towels, chenilles, woolens—and all fabrics rinsed with STA-PUF—come out so velvety-soft that your whole family will notice the difference instantly. With STA-PUF, you can say good-bye forever to coarse, wash-hardened clothes.

Remember—

Move Closer to Record

Of September; Tape Off

By RADER WINGET

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP)—The stock market edged ahead again today in an inconclusive manner. The move kept it still closer to the magic level of last September's record.

Actually, prices today were quite mixed. All trading attention was on individual issues rather than on groups of stocks.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 10 cents at $180.30. It was up 30 cents yesterday.

The day after that, the President suffered a heart attack, a Saturday. On the following Monday, the market slumped in the great one-day fall since the fatal days of 1929. It kept on going down until Oct. 11. Since then it has retraced just about all of the lost ground.

ALL AVERAGES UP

All three components of the average today were up 10 cents, the industrials, rails, and utilities.

Volume amounted to 2,460,000 shares as compared with 2,560,000 shares traded yesterday.

General Motors was at the top of the most active list for the sixth straight time, off 1 1/2 at 51 1/4 on 74,000 shares. Yesterday it was off 1/2.

Chrysler came second up 1/2 at 99 1/2. Yesterday it was second most active up 3/4.

It was followed by Colorado Fuel & Iron up 1/2 at 32 1/2. Sears, Roebuck & Co. was up 1/2 at 22 1/2. Western Union up 1/2 at 22 1/2. Montgomery Ward off 1/2 at 10 1/2.

ADVANCES ON SPLIT—Johns-Manville jumped ahead 3 1/4 at 94 1/4 on a proposal for a two-for-one split. National Steel was up 4 1/4 at 74 1/4 on a higher dividend and a 200-million-dollar expansion program.

Hammill Paper added 1 1/4 at 35 1/4 on a 5 per cent stock dividend. Goodrich was up 1 1/4 at 75 1/4 on a dividend of 55 cents in June, compared with 45 cents in June, 1952.

Crucible Steel lost 2 1/2 at 52 1/2 on an extra 50 cent dividend. A year ago a 2 per cent stock dividend was paid. Copper Range lost 1 1/4 at 43 1/4 on a 5 per cent stock dividend, and Raybestos-Manhattan was ahead 2 1/2 at 60 1/4 on a higher dividend.

HIGHER EARNINGS—Spencer Kellogg was up 1 1/2 at 20 1/2 on the promise of higher earnings, and among other gains were Douglas Aircraft up 1/2, Allied Chemical 2 1/2, Seaboard Petroleum 1 1/2, Amerasia Petroleum 3 1/2, Fidelity-Phenix Insurance 4 1/2, U.S. Freight 3 1/2, and Warren Foundry 2 1/2.

Lower were U.S. Steel off 1/2, Boeing 1 1/2, RCA 1/2, Kennecott Copper 1 1/2, Du Pont 3/4, American Viscose 3/4, American Hawaiian Steamship 8 1/2, New York Central 1/2, Texas Co. 1/2, and Hudson Bay Mining 2 1/2.

Senators at Rome Fete Honoring Plant Chiefs

ROME, Nov. 16.—Two U.S. senators will speak during ceremonies for inspection of the Inland Container Corp. and the Rome Kraft Co. plants Thursday and Friday.

Sen. George and Sen. Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind.) will address a Thursday night dinner at the Coosa County Club.

HONOR FOR TWO

George H. Mead, honorary chairman of the Mead Corp. board, and Herman C. Krannert, chairman of the Inland Container Corp. board, also will be honored during the two-day event.

George B. Elliott, Inland president, said, "It is fitting that this two-day inspection tour has been arranged to honor the two men responsible for this forward stride in industrial development."

A Thursday luncheon at the General Forrest Hotel will be held following inspection of the Rome Kraft plant. The Inland box plant will be visited that afternoon.

Events Friday will include a view of Rome Kraft's woodlands operations, a luncheon at the Coosa County Club, a tour of the Berry Schools and visits to other points of interest.

Charles Kettering, former General Motors official, and Harold Talbot, former secretary of the Air Force, will be among 100 nationally known government, industry, finance and transportation leaders present.

Ike Requests Business Aid Freer Trade

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—President Eisenhower urged U.S. businessmen today to cooperate with the government in removing barriers to world trade.

In a message to the 42nd national convention of the National Foreign Trade Council, Eisenhower said:

"Problems which hamper the international exchange of goods and services are the concern of businessmen as well as of the government. Both must share in the work to promote an expansion and liberalization of international trade in the interest of our own welfare and that of the free world."

Trade, Not Aid Policy Stressed By Briton Here

The British Information Officer for the Southeast Wednesday urged liberal U.S. tariffs on British products.

Alec Robertson, addressing the Atlanta Ad Club, said the United States should operate on the idea of "trade, not aid."

Pointing out that the United Kingdom buys more from the United States than the U.S. buys from the United Kingdom, Robertson said Britain's output can never injure the American economy.

Robertson said concentrated efforts are being made to interest British industrialists in the Southeast in general and Atlanta in particular.

"We have been attempting to stimulate the interest of British exporters in the Southeast and we will be glad to help Georgians locate markets in Britain," Robertson said.

Ala. Radar Station Site Seizure Seen

EUFAULA, Ala., Nov. 16.—Federal condemnation of 24½ acres for a U.S. Air Force radar aircraft warning and control station near here is expected by Dec. 1, City Clerk E. C. Parker stated.

The condemnation proceedings were made necessary, he said, because clear title could not be obtained for the land on the Clayton road. The tract is located about 7½ miles from the Eufaula city limits.

Parker also said present plans call for construction on the station to begin by Jan. 1.

The city of Eufaula is providing the site for the Air Force installation. Owners will get $2,450 for the land and another $500 will go for the condemnation proceedings, the city clerk said.

A force of 175 enlisted men and 25 officers is expected to man the completed radar station. It is variously estimated that the Air Force personnel represent a monthly payroll of $50,000. Community leaders view the military installation as a small new industry that will bring a number of new families to Barbour County's largest city.

Cotton Dips Out to $1.25

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP)—Cotton futures declined 20 cents to $1.25 a bale today.

Apart from small early gains, prices fluctuated under the previous close and over a fairly wide range. Hedging and profit-taking discouraged rallying tendencies. Traders regarded the reaction primarily technical, following recent market gains.

At the start today, nearby December reached a new high for the current month at 34.03 cents a pound, with that price above the average low level for the 14 primary spot markets.

Foreign selling helped depress new crop months.

The heavy flow of cotton into the government loan was again reflected in the latest statistics released by the CCC for the week ended Nov. 11. Loans were 430,895 bales and slightly ahead of the preceding week's large total. Withdrawals of cotton for the latest week were 10,269 bales, leaving a net loan stock of 1955 crop cotton of 2,352,579 bales. A year ago, net 1954 crop loan stock was only 764,033 bales.

The New York Cotton Exchange Service estimated October domestic cotton consumption at 740,000 bales, bringing estimated consumption for the first 13 weeks of the current season, July 31-Oct. 29, to 2,332,000 bales. In the same period a year earlier, consumption was 2,192,000 bales.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16 (AP)—Cotton futures were mostly lower here Wednesday under long realizing and hedge selling. Closing prices were barely steady $1.35 a bale lower to five cents higher.

Mississippi Boat Race
Returns Davy to Video

By JACK GOULD

The New York Times News Service

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—With the younger generation's coonskin cap craze having subsided almost as quickly as it began, tonight's return of Davy Crockett to television was a relatively quiet event. Parents may have to grit their teeth through a few more choruses of that accursed ballad but otherwise the redoubtable Crockett now seems destined to be merely one of TV's many repertory players.

Crockett, portrayed by Fess Parker, resumed his chores in what Walt Disney carefully identified as a legend. Davy occupied the full hour in a telling of a tall tale about his racing down the Mississippi against mighty Mike Fink. The show was a good river chase that undoubtedly entertained the younger audience, but the film hardly seemed one to send boys and girls out to buy king-sized keelboats, for which Disney has the collective thanks of economy-minded elders.

In the picture Davy and his fellow woodsman, George, complete a successful stunt at hunting and are anxious for a restful cruise down to New Orleans. Fink, the bragging king of the river, suggests a tariff which strikes Crockett as exorbitant. Whereupon they join up with an old river captain. However, George inadvertently discovers the pleasures of frontier appetizers and in an alcoholic haze accepts Fink's challenge to a race downstream.

The Messrs. Crockett and Fink employ every available guile to outdistance each other's craft, and theirs is essentially a riparian battle of wits. Their respective trials and triumphs, however, were thin after a while, and the discovery of a handy bayou through which Davy could take a short-cut was most timely both for him and the viewer.

"Davy Crockett's Keelboat Race," as the film was entitled, ended with Davy winning but Fink turning out to be a nice guy and a sporting loser. Young viewers accustomed to unregenerate villains may have been a little dismayed by such an unusual twist for TV. The performances of the cast, which also included Buddy Ebsen as George and Jeff York as Fink, were appropriately vigorous.

A new song, "King of the River," was introduced. It is not likely the number will jeopardize the durability of "The Ballad of Davy Crockett," which is certainly a pity.

Canada Ired by Hope's
Jokes About Margaret

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Nov. 16.—Bob Hope expressed astonishment today at Canadian criticism of his joking on television last night about British Princess Margaret and her romance with Capt. Peter Townsend.

The comedian told viewers: "I admire Peter's nerve. Imagine trying to get royalty the Townsend plan."

The quip was a word-play on the old-age pension plan advanced during the depression years by Dr. Francis Townsend, first in California and then on a national scale.

Canadian Press today quoted William A. Wecker, president of General Motors of Canada, as saying the show probably would have been omitted in Canada if the company had seen the script in advance. The program is sponsored by GM's Chevrolet Division.

The Canadian Broadcasting Corp. told Canadian Press it had received some complaints about the jokes referring to the princess and the captain.

Hope had this to say about the Canadian reaction:

"I'd be the last one to say anything derogatory about Princess Margaret. She's a good friend of mine. If Princess Margaret had seen the show I feel sure she would have gotten a big kick out of it. I would certainly say nothing to offend her in any way."

Other Hope quips during the show included:

"This is the biggest crisis England has had since Anthony Eden sat down on a wet tea bag. Now that it's over the Democrats are saying, 'Why don't they give our Margaret a crack at him?'"

Pushball De-Emphasized

Probably the only place in the United States where a fellow can pick up a good second-hand pushball for a cut-rate price these days is Emory University. The skeleton of that old traditional sport has been hung in the closet out there in DeKalb County.

It was obvious it had to come. Overemphasis. "The demand for victory had become so terrific," said the coach of the sophomore pushball team, "that a fellow just couldn't be sure of any sort of security at all. Kids in the neighborhood used to pick on my kids if the freshman team won. I tell you, the pressure just got so it was impossible for a pushball coach to call his life his own."

"And that Minneapolis line. It got so you were coaching against the experts instead of the freshman team. It's a pretty come-off when pushball comes to this. The next thing you know, it'll be happening in football."

The only thing that didn't happen to the pushball coach at Emory, he wasn't hanged in effigy. Not even burned.

"When it gets to the point they won't even burn you in effigy," said the coach, "the spirit's gone. Good riddance, pushball, pooshball, schmooshball."

Of course the coach of the sophomore team might be somewhat prejudiced. His team was always the favorite. His men always had the edge in experience.

"Yeah," he said, cynically. "That freshman coach was always slinging in advance. 'We got a green team this year,' he'd say, 'no experience at all.' What about me? My teams always had to recover from his lousy coaching."

If the sophomore team had won as freshmen, they were always touted as undefeated. "Yeah," challenged the sophomore coach, "but everybody seemed to forget that the freshmen were always undefeated."

—Then There Was Pushball in the Nude

The schedule, though, really was the crux of the coach's complaint. "Just one game a year," he moaned. "How would a football coach like to have his entire future, the security of his family, everything wrapped up in one game? If I won, I was a great guy for a year. But if I lost I was a dog for a year. Life got to be awfully one-sided."

"Yeah, goodbye pushball, with no regrets. I'm thinking about going into football, good old sane football, where over-emphasis is still a rumor."

From Dean E. H. Reece I gathered that one of the major sins of the sport of pushball at Emory was not pushball at all, but a by-product that developed through the years.

"One day after the annual game," Dean Reece said, "some of the freshmen noticed a tall, lean sophomore dressed in nice clothes. He had not participated in the game."

"Let's take his pants off," somebody hollered. And they did. The next year more boys had their trousers removed. Soon, this wasn't enough. They began stripping them down to the buff. We are not altogether narrow-minded Methodists out here, but we did feel that this was a bit unsightly."

"It got to be tradition that the referees' trousers were removed after the game. It fell my duty to referee at times, and I outsmarted them one year. I wore a pair of red flannels, and I must confess that my stripping went over with a bang."

—The Pushball Bowl Was Out

It seems that pushball at Emory began with Dr. Harvey W. Cox, who became disturbed during his presidency about violence in hazing. It seemed wise to Dr. Cox to organize all the hazing into one big, open affair, and it was he who bought the pushball and established the tradition.

A pushball is an enormous thing, six to eight feet in diameter. The game is played on a field about football size and the object is to push the big ball across the other team's goal line, or in some cases, through the other team's goal.

It was in pursuit of this good, clean fun that as much physical damage often was done as in an old-fashioned street fight. Broken bones were a rather common injury. One year a boy was knocked into a coma that lasted three days.

"The students going into the game were not conditioned for it, of course," Dean Reece said, "nor did they have proper equipment. One year the athletic department lent them uniforms for the game. Over $400 worth of it was torn up."

There were plenty of rules for pushball, the dean said, but nobody ever observed them.

"That's what got me hot under the collar," said the sophomore coach, "that under-the-table stuff that freshman coach was doing. If there had been a Pushball Bowl, he'd never played in it because the NCAA would have kept him in hock all the time."

There is no truth in the rumor that Emory expects to replace the pushball game with intercollegiate football. "No," said Dean Reece, "no intercollegiate football. That stuff's too tame for us."

CHICAGO, Nov. 16 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox today eliminated the office of general manager and named farm director John Rigney a vice president to run the club with Charles Comiskey II.

The action came at the club's annual meeting of stockholders (the Comiskey family) and, in effect, designated Rigney as successor to resigned General Manager Frank Lane. Comiskey has been the club's lone vice president.

Lane left the club after the 1955 season to become general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals. His reason for quitting the Sox, Lane said, was because of a feud with 29-year-old Comiskey.

Rigney, a former White Sox pitcher, is the son-in-law of Mrs. Grace Comiskey, club president, who announced the new organizational setup.

Rigney's wife, the former Dorothy Comiskey, was re-elected Sox secretary-treasurer by the board of directors which was reappointed by the stockholders.

Rigney's successor as farm system director will be named later. Other members of the Sox board of directors include two

THUMBS UP MEANS A NEW SPEED BOAT RECORD FOR BRITAIN'S DONALD CAMPBELL
Powered His Jet-Propelled Bluebird II to New Mark of 216.2 MPH at Nevada's Lake Mead

Campbell Sets New Standard

Pushes Bluebird
To 216.2 MPH

BOULDER CITY, Nev., Nov. 16 (AP)—England's Donald Malcolm Campbell, the only man to pilot a speedboat more than 200 miles an hour and live to tell about it, broke his own world record by streaking his jet-propelled Bluebird over Lake Mead at 216.2 miles an hour.

The spectacular performance cracked the mark of 202.32 which the debonair Britisher set at Lake Ullswater in England last July 24.

It also justified the confidence the 34-year-old speed king had in aiming at new achievements when he brought his two and a half ton, all-metal water monster to America nearly two months ago.

The Bluebird was timed officially at the phenomenal speed of 239.5 on the first of two required runs over a measured kilometer distance, and 193 on the return run.

The only other man to exceed 200 miles an hour was John Cobb of England, who was killed when his jet-propelled hydroplane disintegrated at a speed of 206 miles an hour on one run in Scotland in September, 1952.

Campbell and the Bluebird at Lake Ullswater were timed at approximately 215 and 189 miles an hour for the 202.32 record.

Campbell, the son of the late land and water speed enthusiast, Sir Malcolm Campbell, was a happy man when he clambered out of the cockpit of the Bluebird.

"The run down was fine," he said, "but on the way back the wind had come up and the water was a little rough."

Today's record was set over a dangerously short distance of water, about three and a half miles. This meant that Campbell did not have too much distance to accelerate the Bluebird, and not too much to decelerate.

Half joking, but still serious, he observed beforehand: "I truly hope I do not have to climb a mountain."

Wally Butts Named South All-Star Coach

Spartans' Duffy Daugherty
To Coach North at Miami

Wally Butts of Georgia, holder of a head coach's portfolio longer than anyone else in the Southeastern Conference, Wednesday was named to front the South coaching staff in the annual North-South College All-Star game at Miami, Dec. 26.

Rex Enright, football coach at South Carolina, was named as one of Butts' two assistants for the game sponsored annually by the Mahi Shrine Temple. The third was not listed in the Associated Press announcement. Hugh "Duffy" Daugherty of Michigan State was named to coach the North team.

This will be the second appearance for Butts in the Miami grid feature. Two years ago he served on the coaching staff and, with the aid of his own quarterback, Zeke Bratkowski, helped rack up a 20-0 victory over the Northerners.

Butts, now winding up his 17th season at the helm of the Bulldogs, has a long and successful career of post-season coaching. Seven times he's gone to the post and six times welded his all-stars into a winning entry.

In four years as an assistant on the College All-Stars' staff, his teams scored three victories over the professional champions. In 1943, with Butts developing the passing attack, the collegians routed the Washington Redskins in the annual Chicago battle, 27-7. In 1946 and '47, the Los Angeles Rams and Chicago Bears fell by identical 16-0 scores. The first loss for an all-star team with Butts on the staff came in 1948 when Charlie Trippi, who had sparked the collegians as a Georgia grad the year before, came back as a Chicago Cardinal to lead a 28-0 rout.

Georgia's bowl record shows seven appearances under Butts.

Jack Murphy of the San Diego Union today became the first non-coach victim in the current western wave of effigy hanging.

In his column yesterday, dealing with the effigy hanging of San Diego State College coach Bill Schutte, Murphy referred to the students who did it as "playful little rascals."

His effigy was hoisted on the college quadrangle, with a sign reading: "Sorry Murphy, we had to use the rope. We looked for dynamite but gave up hope."

with the Bulldogs winning four, losing two and tying one.

Butts has also made two appearances as head coach in the Blue-Gray game in Montgomery. In 1955 his Gray team took a 24-7 decision and in 1950, with Billy Mixon of the Bulldogs on his side, he walked the Blues, 31-6.

Daugherty's appointment is conditional on the Spartans not winning the Rose Bowl bid. In that case, another head coach will be named.

Sophomores Spliced Georgia's Backfield

Orr, Dukes, Comfort, Lofton
Joined Line Rookies of '54

By DAN KITCHENS
Special to The Constitution

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 16—Much was written in 1954 about the sophomore Bulldogs who contributed so tellingly to Georgia's "comeback" 6-3-1 season record, but little note has been taken of 1955's Bulldog rookies whose spirit and effort have been no less effective than their predecessors.

Heaviest concentration of sophomores on the 1954 squad was in the line; logically, there hasn't been much room there in 1955 for newcomers.

As sophs, Roy Wilkins, Laneair Roberts, Pud Mosteller and Jimmy Brown played regularly for the 'Dogs. Along with them, John Luck, Tony Cushmanberry, Wayne Dye, Alex MacDonald, George Mitchell and Billy Carrollton saw enough action to sharpen their varsity teeth and win a letter.

Their 1955 counterparts have been fewer in numbers and have been in battle less. R. K. Brown, fine end prospect from Atlanta's Northside, might have been ready for varsity duty before any of his frosh buddies had he not broken a hand early in the season. However, in the few games he took part in, Brown shone on offense and defense.

Other second-year men who have played in the Georgia line this time around are Mike Meatheringham, Johnny Spooner and Travis Vinesett with the graduation of Don Shea and Len Spadafino next spring the latter pair are expected to provide speed and heft at the guard spots.

Where the 1954 emphasis on sophomores was in the line, in 1955's Bulldog edition it has shifted to the backfield. It is here that the yearlings have aided the Georgia cause.

First, of course, would be Jimmy Orr, who in his first year with the varsity, and with only one year of high school ball behind him, gave tremendous impetus to the Georgia offense. The blonde South Carolinian is currently the leading pass receiver in the league with 21 catches for 412 yards and three touchdowns. Add to this his uncanny pass-catching ability, a deceptive running style, and a knack for "getting the job done" under pressure, it becomes obvious that he can go a long way

EVEN AMONG TECH'S ACES VOLKERT'S ALL-STAR STUFF

By BERT PRATHER

If George Volkert, Georgia Tech's leading ground gainer and total offense leader, fails to land a spot on this year's all-SEC eleven, it can probably be traced directly to the fact that George has too many talented teammates in the Tech secondary.

The Jacket backfield is so stacked with good horses that George sees, considerably less playing time than some of the other SEC ball toters, who out of sheer necessity are able to put in more playing time and therefore pile up more imposing marks in the statistics department.

Though the all-star pickers lean pretty heavily on the boys who carry the big loads out of necessity, it would appear that it should work the other way, too. Volkert's ability to star week in and week out on a team which admittedly has more good backs than any team in the conference should be rated all the higher. But that is not how it works usually.

There is probably little doubt that, had Volkert been operating from tailback on a good single wing team, he would be the rage of the conference.

The blond crew-cut junior from Nashville, Tenn., can do everything well an all-star back is supposed to do. He leads the Jacket rushers by a wide margin with 462 yards in 70 carries, an average of 6.6 every time he takes off. He is also the team's best pass receiver; in fact, Coach Bobby Dodd believes he's one of the finest you can find anywhere.

George has grabbed eight aeriels for a total of 171 yards and one touchdown. His total offense adds up to 532 yards. George can throw too, tossing six times, completing two for 70 yards. Volkert stands third among the Jacket point-getters with 24 on four touchdowns. His punting is better than average, and, of course, he's a dangerous kickoff and punt returner.

A pretty good record is George's when one considers that he has to share the Tech stage with such outstanding backs as Stan Flowers, Dickie Mattison, Jimmy Thompson, Wade Mitchell, Toppy Vann and Johnny Menger.

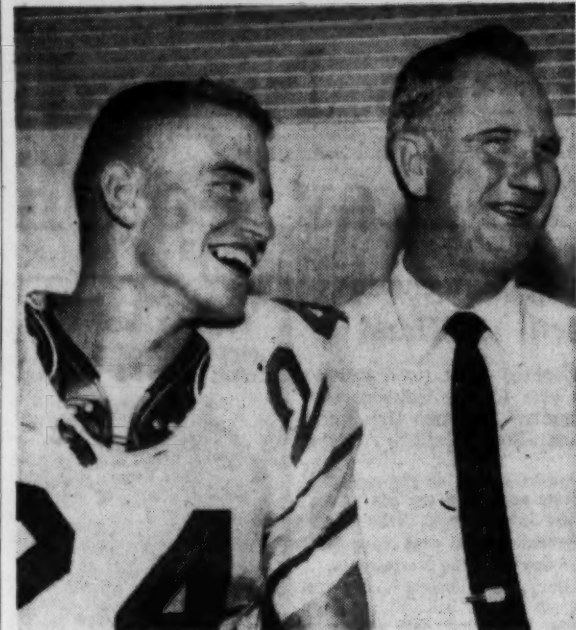

If some of the other conference backfield sensations had such helpmates as these, it is doubtful if their records would be as fine as Volkert's. The all-star selectors could do well to study George's achievements before making a final choice.

As a team Tech has averaged 193 rushing yards per game rushing and 71.1 passing. Against nine opponents, the Jackets have gained 1,737 net along the ground and 640 in the air. Tech's total offense against these foes is 2,377 to 1,812. In total offense per game the Jackets have out-moved the opposition, 264.1 to 201.3. The Doddmen have run 552 plays to 469 for the opponents.

Coach Dodd called the Jackets back to the practice field Wednesday after a two-day vacation, but nothing in the way of formal practice transpired. The varsity boys, decked out in sweat clothes, engaged in "touch" games among themselves and then after a short meeting with the staff were given permission to head for the showers if they thought they had limbered up sufficiently.

The practice tempo is expected to be stepped up Thursday, however, since there is quite a bit of work to be done before the big game with Georgia's Bulldogs at Grant Field a week from Saturday.

Ken Owen, the ailing fullback, is working hard trying to get his injured knee back in working order, but as of now he is the only doubtful for the Georgia classic.

Auburn's Defense Must Carry Load Against Potent Clemson

Offense Will Suffer Most
With Childress on Sidelines

By MICKEY LOGUE
Constitution Sports Writer

AUBURN, Ala., Nov. 16—With Joe Childress an unlikely participant and a ground-eating Clemson Tiger to stop, Auburn looks to its defense for the burden of proof Saturday at Mobile.

Scout Dick McGowan already has warned the Plainsmen it may take quite a bit of proving.

Joel Wells, Joe Pagniel, Billy O'Dell and Don King, according to the Tiger assistant coach, form a quarter capable of making touchdown music with any such ensemble in the South.

Wells, who churned under 110 yards against mighty Maryland, especially is hailed as a TD-maker de luxe. He and his backfield cohorts are yard-gainers of note, whether traveling by ground or air.

Defensive coach Hal Herring counters with the Southeastern Conference's most stubborn yard-yielders, a defense that is excelled by few nationally.

After eight games the Plainsmen are surrendering yardage at the rate of 181.5 yards per outing. They have limited foes to 103.0 yards each contest rushing.

Safetyman Fob James anchors the Auburn secondary. And his steady improvement as a defender has enhanced his value as a ball-carrier, Herring revealed.

Before the season started, coaches anticipated fine defensive work from veterans Bob Scarbrough, M. L. Brackett, Frank D'Agostino, Jerry Elliott, Frank Reeves, Childress, James and Alton Shell. However, there have been several surprising newcomers.

Jim Walsh, who'll start at fullback, has been a "good solid" linebacker, Herring said. All he needed was more experience.

Guards Ernest Danjean and Chuck Maxime, both juniors, have blossomed this season with more experience.

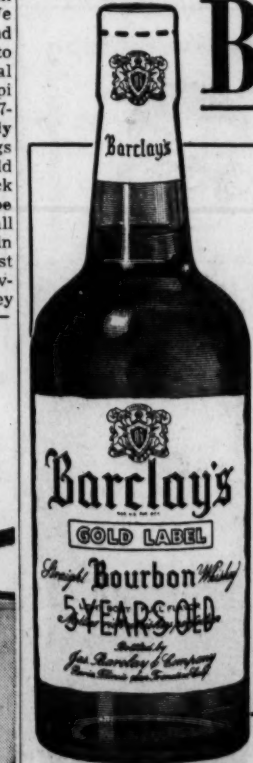

Guards Tim Baker and Jeff Weekley and tackle Ben Preston, all sophomores, have come along fast also. Preston's play has been equal to or better than that of D'Agostino as a second-year man, Head Coach Ralph Jordan added. D'Agostino was first string all-SEC as a soph and is an all-America candidate as a senior.

"One reason for our defensive success," Herring said, "is that we have confidence the reserves can do the job when they go in and they live up to it. However, we make our share of mistakes and they sometimes cost us touchdowns." Auburn's defense, too, takes ad-horse. Georgia's line and a waterlogged field stopped the Lannett flash with 50 yards.

You'll welcome the change!

Southern Cuts Limit On Players

Directors Renew
Dixie Series Pact

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 16 (UP)—Directors of the Southern Association voted today to renew their Dixie series agreement with the Texas League which had expired this year.

They also adopted their 1956 playing schedule, cut the basic player limit by one and turned thumbs down on a proposal by the new owners of the Memphis team that league members sponsor professional football teams.

The new player limits will hold a team to 19 instead of the former top of 22 players at the season's start, 18 instead of 19 after 30 days and 19 instead of 20 for the final 20 days of the season.

The schedule, prepared by Harry Simmons, secretary of the International League, will have the Southern's season open Tuesday night, April 10, and close Sunday afternoon, Sept. 9. The annual all-star game will be played July 18.

First-round openers will be Chattanooga at Nashville, Atlanta at Birmingham, New Orleans at Mobile and Little Rock at Memphis.

The second openers Friday, April 13, will be Nashville at Atlanta, Birmingham at Chattanooga, Mobile at Little Rock and Memphis at New Orleans.

A BULLPUP END AND A BACK DROP FAMILY SPORTS BEHIND

By AL THOMY
Constitution Sports Writer
ATHENS, Nov. 16—Two young Atlantans, who come from a long line of golf and tennis aces, are exerting tremendous effort in their campaign to succeed on another field, this one 53½ yards-by-100.

Both are handicapped by the lack of size. Richard Courts stands 5-8, weighs 150 and puts every pound into his drives from a halfback position. Dave Black measures 5-9, weighs 170 and plays a mean game of end. They come from Atlanta's Westminster School, where they starred on the prep football team.

They're testing this game of football, Bulldog-type, on their own time, being two of seven non-scholarship boys on the freshman squad.

Courts' father, Malon, is the all-time tennis champion of the university, while Black's father, Dave, and uncle, Charles, have been prominent in the state's golf circles for years.

Of the two, Black is given the better chance to see action against Georgia Tech's Baby Jackets at Grant Field on Thanksgiving in the annual Scottish Rite game.

"Dave's as good a blocking end as we have," says Bullpup Coach Spec Landrum. "I'm satisfied he'll play some on Thanksgiving. Of course, he is handicapped by his lack of size. He's a little small for an end, but he may grow some."

Courts may get into the game against Tech, although Take Off the Brakes!

Richard Courts, Georgia freshman halfback, runs into a stone wall as nonchalant Bob Sedlock, biggest man on the team at 252 pounds, holds him without effort.

he finds himself playing behind some of the most prized halfback talent developed in Georgia during recent years. The smallest man on the team, Richard good naturedly paused to pose with huge Bob Sedlock, 252-pound tackle who has the distinction of being the largest Bullpup.

Play regularly or not, Black and Courts have come off the starting block flashing ability and determination. Should they put on a few pounds, Georgia may have a couple of "sleepers" for its varsity squad next year. But now the object is...

Rebels' Smith Admits Seeking Soft Schedule

JACKSON, Tenn., Nov. 16. — Athletic Director Tad Smith hit critics who have accused Mississippi of playing "soft" football schedules by saying Mississippi "is always going to play a couple of soft teams."

Smith told the Jackson Exchange Club it would be "unfair" to the players to meet tough teams every Saturday. "I don't believe any school should schedule 10 hard games," he said.

Auburn Holds Lead In Clemson Series

Special to The Constitution
AUBURN, Ala., Nov. 16—Mobile will be the scene of the Auburn-Clemson battle of the Tigers for the third time since 1899 Saturday.

Of the previous contests Auburn holds the edge with 23 wins, 11 losses and two ties. Only deadlocks of the colorful series were in 1923 (0-0) and 1949 (20-20).

Twenty-three times one of the two Tigers has been held scoreless. Clemson has failed to reach the scoreboard on 17 occasions, Auburn eight. In 16 tilts between 1907 and 1926 the South Carolina entry scored only two TDs. The series was inaugurated in 1899 with Auburn winning, 34-0.

Real offensive battles have developed in the past two games. In 1953 Auburn won 45-19 with Vince Dooley, Bobby Freeman, and Fob James providing most of the fireworks. Freeman had one of his best afternoons, scoring three touchdowns on runs of 7, 23, and 24 yards.

In last year's battle Auburn was again the victor by a 27-6 margin.

BOBO PACKS UP AND LEAVES; MRS. OLSON SEEKS DIVORCE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16. —The Call Bulletin said today Mrs. Helen Olson would file suit tomorrow for divorce from Carl (Bobo) Olson, world middleweight boxing champion.

Warren Sapiro, attorney for Mrs. Olson, was quoted as saying the suit to be filed in Redwood City will charge extreme cruelty.

Mrs. Olson will ask custody of the couple's four children and "her fair share" of the community property, the paper said.

"We estimate it (the community property) is over $200,000 in real estate, securities and some corporation stock trust," Sapiro was quoted.

The Call Bulletin said the Olsons have been separated since last Sunday when Bobo packed up and left their luxurious home at Hillsborough.

Grady Cites McConkey, Akin

Indestructible center Albert McConkey, versatile tackle Ken Akin and irreplaceable halfback Park Turner carted off the big trophies Wednesday night as Grady High School footballers banqueted in their backyard gym.

McConkey and Akin tied for the most valuable lineman honor after three ballots, and Turner swept to the most valuable back title in a landslide marred only by his dissenting vote. The adjectives that described them were culled from words of praise by head coach Erskine Russell and staff, who made the presentations.

Runners-up in the Region 3-AA North race but champion fast finishers, the Grey Knights were addressed by Georgia freshman coach Spec Landrum and Georgia Tech freshman coach Jim Nolan.

Each spoke highly of a Grady graduate on his way to football eminence, Nolan tabbing freshman end Jack Rudolph for starting duty with the Engineers next year and Landrum according soph Wilbur Lofton "at least half the playing time" at the Bulldog fullback slot in 1956.

Guard Wink Wilkin drew another coveted varsity honor for being the most improved player. And manager Jack Brady, a four-year veteran, accepted a loving cup for his troubles.

Game balls went to seniors Randy Wilkerson (Brown game), Mac Oxford (O'Keeffe), Harry White (Bass), Jerry Taitz (Smith), McConkey (Murphy), Turner (West Fulton) and Claude Grizzard (Northside).—PERSKY

'Mr. Georgia' Meet Draws 15

With the largest number of lifters ever entered in a Georgia AAU meet, the open and novice weight lifting championships to be held Saturday afternoon and night at the Georgia Military Academy gym should be a great strength show.

Keen competition is expected in all bodyweight classes as more than five of the lifters entered have broken state AAU records in premeet practice.

The "Mr. Georgia" physique contest held in connection with the lifting has drawn some fifteen entries from all over the state. As an added attraction, Harry Johnson of Atlanta, one of the world's most muscular men will give a posing and muscle control act at the evening performance. The events get underway at 2 p.m. and at 7:30.

Colts Owner May Buy Oriole Club

Compiled From Wire Reports
The Baltimore baseball Orioles and the Baltimore football Colts may be combined under the same ownership soon.

Carroll Rosenbloom, wealthy owner of Baltimore's entry in the National Football League, has been approached by officials of the Orioles within the last few days about buying the American League club, it has been learned by the United Press.

The 45-year-old Baltimore-born textile manufacturer and sportsman is "definitely interested" in purchasing the faltering Orioles, so long as he can obtain the controlling interest.

Rosenbloom confirmed Wednesday at his offices in Baltimore that Oriole officials have spoken with him the last week and he might buy it if conditions were right. He pointed out that he already owns some stock in the club, although he did not specify exactly how much.

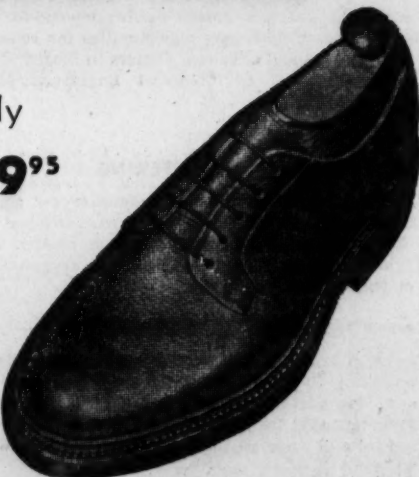

It's no secret in Baltimore that the Orioles have started to feel a financial strain. Clarence Miles, resigned Oriole president who leaves Friday, said he would be willing to sell his stock to Rosenbloom.

TCU's Jim Swink Looms as Point King

Ups Lead on Texas Spree;
Vandy's Horton Rates Ninth

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP)—Jim Swink, Texas' Christian's darting ball-carrier, looms as the new touchdown champion of major college football ranks.

The brilliant climax runner of the Horned Frogs broke the race for season's individual scoring honor wide open Saturday with his four-touchdown, two-conversion burst against Texas for 26 points.

This put him 23 points ahead

FRONTS SWINK 'Mean John' Nation's Top Line Star

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP)—"Mean John" Paluck, whose smashing tactics at end helped Pitt upset West Virginia last Saturday was named Associated Press lineman of the week Wednesday.

Living up to Pitt's November tradition, "Mean John" constantly barged into the West Virginia backfield, seldom giving the harried Mountaineer backs a chance to develop the drive that had brought them into Pitt Stadium unbeaten and untied.

Joe Walton, Pitt's other end who scored the Panthers' first touchdown, likewise played a bangup game, but it was Paluck who got the nod.

In another of the AP's weekly polls, halfback Jim Swink was named back of the week for scoring four touchdowns and two conversions in Texas Christian's 47-20 triumph over Texas.

Tackle Fred Robinson of Washington, end Eugene Stallings of Texas A&M, end Jim Freeman of Iowa, center Jack Wilson of Richmond, center Hugh Pitts of Texas Christian, tackle Norman Hamilton of Texas Christian, guard Wayland Roberts of Arkansas, guard Jim Brown of UCLA, guard Bo Bolinger of Oklahoma and guard John Jankans of Arizona State (Temple) were other linemen nominated.

ASSIST FROM FRIEND SAVES STANKY TRIP TO THE JUG

MOBILE, Ala., Nov. 16 (AP)—With an assist from an unidentified friend, Eddie Stanky today slid home safely after his newest row with the umpires.

The friend paid a $5 parking ticket issued against the fiery former St. Louis Cardinal manager.

Traffic officer William Mack said he wrote out the ticket yesterday when he found Stanky's car parked in front of a Mobile bank in a section marked "reserved for armored cars."

Mack said Stanky took the ticket, then tore it up and drove off. Traffic Capt. Edwin Tutthill said Stanky also would be charged with disorderly conduct for tearing up the ticket.

The friend, who wouldn't be identified by name, stepped in today and paid the ticket shortly after City Recorder William Bekurs declined to sign an arrest order for Stanky.

"Let's hold up on this and give him an opportunity to come in," Bekurs told Tutthill. After the ticket was paid, officers said plans to press the disorderly conduct charge were dropped.

The Stanky friend also paid $9 on three other parking tickets issued against the ex-big league player during the past few months.

Stanky lives in Fairhope, Ala., across the bay from Mobile.

TROUBLE FOR BUCKEYES—ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 16.—Tom Maentz (L) and Ron Kramer of Michigan mean only one thing to Ohio State Saturday and that's trouble. Michigan coach Bennie Oosterbaan says he's never seen two greater flankers on one team. A victory Saturday means the Big Ten championship and for Michigan a trip to the Rose Bowl Jan. 2.

COLLEGE CORNER

DIETZEL DEFLATES MARYLAND: FEARS TECH, OLE MISS MORE

By LARRY FOX

Paul Dietzel, Louisiana State's outspoken young coach, isn't one of those on the Maryland bandwagon. "On the day we played them, I didn't feel Maryland was as good all-around as Texas A&M. They were about on a par with Georgia Tech and Ole Miss, although Tech has better runners and Ole Miss better passing," Dietzel says.

Dietzel also rates Ole Miss quarterback Eagle Day better than Terp QB Frank Tamburello and sums up his comparison this way, "The teams I'd least like to play again this season and try to beat are Tech, Ole Miss and A&M. We'd sure like another crack at Maryland."

Jim Tatum, Maryland coach, responds in a different vein, rating LSU's line the best his team faced, including UCLA. "UCLA's first string line may be slightly better, but LSU has a second line as good as the first and is much deeper than UCLA," Tatum says.

Since he thought Clemson's running game was also better than UCLA's, a combination of the LSU line and Clemson backfield would really be a Tiger.

Defensive job Tennessee did on Florida this past weekend can be measured by the fact that Gator halfback Jackie Simpson was held to minus three yards rushing.

Duke halfback Ed Post has quit school and returned home. . . . Barry Heywood, son of the Baylor School coach and senior center for Vanderbilt, is making the rounds of medical school admissions offices, may wind up at Emory. His kid brother, Tony, incidentally, is a freshman end at Tech. . . . Jeff Davis, the highly-rated Atlanta halfback who missed all of his freshman year at Vanderbilt with injuries, is being held out this season. Commodores think he's a wonderful prospect.

PITY THIS WRITER: They say a Houston sports writer, trying to beat the rush, wrote his lead Saturday saying Rice had beaten Texas A&M, 12-0, and by the time the press box elevator hit the ground, the score had changed to 14-12 in favor of A&M.

Florida's Don Chandler would be tied for the national lead in punting if he'd kicked one more time. He has 18 for a 44.2 average but the minimum number of kicks appears to be 19.

An apparent error has kept Eagle Day of Ole Miss out of the total offense figures nationally. He's got 887 yards, good enough for ninth place.

Freddy Wyant, West Virginia quarterback, will play in the Hula Bowl game in Hawaii Jan. 8. . . . Freshman quarterbacks Bobby Schwarze of Jersey City, N.J., and Bobby Miller of Brunswick have led The Citadel to a 5-3 record this season with one game to go, most victories at the Charleston, S.C., institution in 13 years. . . . How important is the forward pass? Ohio State has won its last two games without completing a single aerial.

Georgia has an ace in the service to strengthen its quarterback hand next year. He's Al Bishop who joined the service after excelling in his first spring practice at Athens. He'll be a sophomore next fall when his return is due. . . . Bob Capes of Covington, a guard, winds up his career for Wofford against Eastern Kentucky Saturday night. . . . If Miami beats Alabama as expected Friday night, it will be the Hurricanes' 150th football victory and win No. 70 in Andy Gustafson's head coaching career. . . . In case you wondered, the extra point Pitt forfeited to West Virginia because the goal posts had been torn down was credited to Mountaineer quarterback Mickey Trimark, giving him one point for no attempts.

SNIDER'S PICKS

Plainsmen Over Howard's Men; Tennessee To Foil Kentuckians

By STEVE SNIDER

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (UP)—Oklahoma and Maryland, destined to meet in the Orange Bowl, figure to beat football's "upset jinx" again this week.

For Maryland, it'll be the wind-up of an unbeaten campaign against George Washington, while Oklahoma is a solid choice to turn back Nebraska in its next to last game and become the second of only two major teams with a perfect record for '53.

In two other top games, here's a shaky vote for Michigan over Ohio State and one backed by a bit more confidence for UCLA over Southern California.

Around the nation:

SOUTH

Maryland over George Washington—End of the road still undefeated.

Tennessee over Kentucky—Majors and Vols have come a long way.

West Virginia over Syracuse—On the rebound.

Also: Miami over Alabama, Auburn over Clemson, Davidson over Furman, Duke over Wake Forest, Vanderbilt over Florida, North Carolina State over Virginia, North Carolina State over William and Mary, Florida State over The Citadel.

EAST

Princeton over Dartmouth—For the Ivy League crown.

Pittsburgh over Penn State—Those ends will trouble Lenny Moore.

Yale over Harvard—If fumbles are out of Yale's system.

Also: Boston U. over Temple, Delaware over Cornell, Columbia over Rutgers, Holy Cross over Connecticut, Lehigh over Lafayette.

MIDWEST

Michigan over Ohio State—Buckeyes need a passer for this one.

Oklahoma over Nebraska—Though first half should be close.

Notre Dame over Iowa—But it's traditionally tough.

Also: Illinois over Northwestern, Purdue over Indiana, Colorado over Iowa State, Missouri over Kansas.

Teams Named By Corn Bowl

MACOMB, Ill., Nov. 16 (AP)—Luther of Decorah, Iowa, undefeated in 19 games, will meet Western Illinois State in the Corn Bowl football game at Hanson Field Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 24.

Western Illinois, with a current 5-2-1 record, closes its season at Eastern Illinois State of Charleston Saturday.

Decorah has ended this season with a 7-0-1 mark.

Wisconsin over Minnesota, Michigan State over Marquette.

SOUTHWEST

Texas Christian over Rice—Swink and Curtis are potent pair.

Arkansas over Louisiana State—Caution advised.

Southern Methodist over Baylor—Ditto here.

Also: Houston over Villanova, Texas Tech over College of Pacific, Kansas State over Oklahoma A&M, Detroit over Tulsa, Arizona (Tempe) State over New Mexico, A&M, Arizona over New Mexico, Hardin-Simmons over Trinity.

FAR WEST

UCLA over Southern California—Defense should make the difference.

Stanford over California—Brodie has the Indians on the warpath.

Oregon State over Oregon—Good for second place.

Also: Idaho over Montana, San Jose State over Fresno State, Washington over Washington State, Rockies: Colorado A&M over Brigham Young.

DARING TESTS PROVE NO BOIL-AWAY WITH ZERONE®

Du Pont's Economy Anti-Freeze

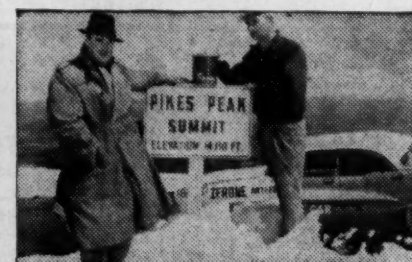

Tom McCahill, the nation's number-one car tester, was asked to make this 1,300-mile run. Du Pont wanted to convince car owners that its economy anti-freeze—"Zerone"—won't boil away under virtually any driving conditions—despite some opinions to the contrary!

At Death Valley enough "Zerone" was put into the test car for 10° below zero protection. Then the radiator pressure cap was put on and officially sealed. A flask was attached to the overflow pipe to catch any of the "Zerone" solution—should it boil away.

McCahill started out in the blistering heat of Death Valley. He crossed mountains, hit all kinds of weather, bucked heavy traffic. Temperatures rose and fell. Finally he climbed the tortuous road up Pikes Peak, snaking past six-foot snowdrifts to the 14,110-foot summit.

McCahill's own report: "Not one drop of 'Zerone' boiled away. The catch flask was empty. There was no loss of anti-freeze protection! My test run proved to me that 'Zerone' won't boil away in today's modern cars with properly operating pressurized cooling systems."

At Daytona Beach, under NASCAR® supervision, the "Zerone" test car raced along the beach at speeds between 110 and 115 mph for 23 miles. Though engine temperatures averaged 25° above normal, not a drop of "Zerone" boiled away!

Woodruff's Hill Father and Son Future Top Sweep Chase Titles

Winter Decision
Appears in Cards

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Nov. 16 (UP)—The State Board of Control probably will decide this week whether it will take up the matter of Florida football coach Bob Woodruff's future at a winter meeting, it was disclosed today.

The growing controversy over Woodruff, whose "Gators" started the season with high hopes but have lost four games against four wins, will be discussed only "informally" before the season ends, Board Chairman Fred Kent said.

Kent admitted the topic of Woodruff's tenure at Florida has been consuming a lot of his time.

Kent said the squawks have increased since last Saturday's humiliating 20-0 defeat by Tennessee.

Kent admitted most of the people who have approached him on the subject want Woodruff fired, but he declined to identify any specific group which has made a recommendation on the subject.

C. Guthrie Babcock, president of the Florida Alumni Assn. of greater Miami and a past president, Paul Marks, issued a statement today urging the university, its officials and alumni to suspend any further discussion or action on the termination or extension of (Woodruff's) contract until the football season is over and the Board of Control can look into the matter calmly and deliberately without pressure from either side.

Another strong alumni group is known to want Woodruff's contract bought up immediately. The contract has another year to go at $17,000. Another influential group wants the board either to renew his contract for another two years to give him a chance to prove himself or else fire him immediately. Still another group thinks that what Woodruff needs is a backfield coach and a vote of confidence.

Smith and Barnes Win Turkey Meet

Caroline Smith and Tommy Barnes posted a gross 76 to take first place in the Druid Hills mixed Scotch two-some turkey tournament Wednesday.

Martha Weatherall and Herman Dixon won low net with 69. Other winners: Second Division—Grace and Tom Smith, gross 84; Dr. Helen Bellhouse and Wade Turner, net 63; Third Division—Corrine Van Sleet and Henry Wing, gross 88; Maggie Hartfield and Drew Ghegan, net 66.

STATE TENPIN JUBILEE TURNS INTO A HEN PARTY THIS WEEK

By MORT PERSKY
Georgia's Tenpin Jubilee is sometimes a jubilee for women only, as this week's listing of the jubilant attests.

Most jubilant at Columbus City Bowling Center, scene of the latest activity, were a local lady named Ola Mae Carlock and Atlanta's Margaret Engelhardt. Carlock, president of the Columbus Women's Bowling Association, rolled high game of the weekend at 229.

Engelhardt, secretary to Georgia's women bowlers, had high series of 568 as she continued to surpass her average by skips and salties. Now averaging 149 in league play at Buckhead, she has a 164 median for 54 Jubilee games.

JUBILEE JUMBLE: George Van Wile of Ft. Benning was runner-up to the triumphant Carlock and Engelhardt with his 212 and 548 totals. Margaret teamed with Don Brashers of Ft. Benning to post the best money score, 1,168. Ola Mae teamed with Lester Parker for No. 2 position with 1,100. Betty Enfinger had Atlanta's Henry Land as partner in her third-place 1,085. This week the tournament moves to Augusta, and the following week Atlantans get their chance to win the entry contest led by Marietta.

Mort Persky

DUCKPIN NOTES: Evelyn Bennett is Lucky Strike's Leila Ragsdale Handicap champion. Her 628 led this roster: Evelyn Bennett 628, Nellie Pitt 621, Tommie Carper and Martha Cleveland 619 each, Johnnie Hallman 601 and Grace Lewis 597. Al Burrell's 15-game 1,937 led him six pins out of the money at Washington's Dixie Classic. The 400's: Truman Cowart 413, Newt Roberts 407, Andy Page 401. League-of-the-Week (the Ladies' Commercial, top-ranked of the women's leagues): First three places sound like a picnic: NuGrape, Gordon Foods and Redfern Sausage. But a florist and a garage break up the party by intervening between those three and last-place Sealtest. League highs belong to Maureen Sirbaugh (167 game), Martha Cleveland (391 set and 108 average). The Redfern team (Johnnie Hargrove, Rachel Cloud, Estelle Warrington, Elizabeth Cloud and Kitty Lennox) holds the team highs, a 581-game and a 1,606 series.

TENPIN TALK: Frank Schroer was best on a bad night in the City Tenpin League, hanging up a 198 game score and a 541 series. Randall Brothers, fourth-place team, rolled 849 and 2,368 highs, yet trail Philco, Miller's and Knights of Columbus. J. L. Self's 525 was the only 50 series besides Schroer's. Ralph Brunt (209 men's game and 537 series), Lois Arntson (191 ladies' game) and Gert Kepler (431 ladies' series) led the Mixed Leaguers. Sue Richardson topped 'em for a 174 high single and Madeline Kane did the same for a 423 high trio in the Keglerette Klan, while Margaret Engelhardt paced Kitchen Klubbers with 192 and 487. Other good ladies' scores: Gussie Haugan's 181 and 453, Jo Tate's 173, Connie Hewitt's 173.

Spieser TKOs Young in 2d

CHICAGO, Nov. 16 (UP)—Chuck Spieser of Detroit blasted veteran Paddy Young of New York to the floor four times before referee Frank Gilmer stopped the scheduled 10-rounder tonight at 2:45 of the second round.

Spieser, outweighing his shorter opponent 171 pounds to 168, bombed the 27-year-old Young with a left hook and sizzling right in the first round. Young went down, was on one knee at the count of four then took a nine count before arising.

After Young's third trip to the canvas in the second round, Gilmer stepped between them and stopped the scrap.

CAMPANELLA'S BAT REVIVAL VOTED NL COMEBACK OF '55

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (UP)—Roy Campanella, Brooklyn's sturdy catcher who ranks with the greatest of all time, was named today as the National League player who made the greatest comeback of the 1955 season.

The veteran backstop, who will be 34 years old Saturday, rebounded brilliantly from a luckless 1954 campaign to lead the Dodgers with a .318 batting average, catch 123 games, drive in 107 runs and hammer 32 home runs. His exploits earned him the No. 1 catcher rating on the Associated Press' major league All-Star team.

Campanella received 57 votes among the 99 members of the Baseball Writers' fraternity who participated in the annual AP poll. Don Newcombe, Campanella's battery-mate and 20-game winner, was second with 35 votes. Southpaw Johnny Podres, a third Dodger, got two votes as did right-hander Saul Rogovin of the Philadelphia Phillies.

Court Denies Rehearing In Cobb Cemetery Case

By the same 4-to-3 vote, the Georgia Supreme Court Wednesday stuck to its recent decision that Byron Reeves can build a cemetery near U.S. Highway 41 in Cobb County.

It denied a rehearing on the case. Justice Bond Almond wrote the opinion denying the rehearing. He was joined by Justices Grady Head, Carlton Mobley, and Lee

B. Wyatt. Dissenting were Chief Justice W. H. Duckworth, and Justices Tom Candler and J. H. Hawkins. This was the same lineup on the recent decision.

In their plea for a rehearing the contestants contended the Cobb County zoning order of 1939 is a state law having the effect of statute law, and "being valid at the time of its enactment does not become invalid by virtue of a change of condition."

But the court ruled otherwise. It said the order was the exercise of local police power by the county commission and does not have the standing of state law. And, anyway, the court declared "a statute valid when enacted may become invalid by change in conditions."

Originally, the high court decided the cemetery could not be built. Then, in a second test, the court decided that conditions have changed since the area was zoned for agricultural and residential purposes in 1939. The Lockheed bomber plant has been built nearby since that time, it noted. So, it ruled the cemetery could be built.

The case attracted intense attention from Cobb County, since zoning laws were involved.

$131,000 Lowest Bid On School

The Fulton County Board of Education has received a low bid of $131,000 on its new Negro elementary school at Stonewall.

Low bidder on the structure, which will house the combined Enon, Red Oak and Union City Negro elementary schools, was L. A. Miller Co. Second low bidder was J. H. Archer Construction Co. with a bid of $131,385.

OVER BUDGET

Associate Supt. Norman Aaron, in charge of construction, said the low bid was $16,300 over the budget. Plans for the building will have to be studied for possible modifications to bring cost of the structure in line with the budgeted amount, he said.

Awarding of the contract will be announced later. The building will contain six classrooms and other facilities.

In other actions, the board officially named its new high school on Sandy Springs circle Sandy Springs High School. The name was recommended by the Sandy Springs Businessmen's Assn. and by two Parent-Teacher groups.

RECREATION BUILDING

The school board also approved use of a recreation building on the Sandy Springs High School site by Sandy Springs Masonic Lodge No. 124. The lodge must move the building from the present site since it is located where a portion of the new school is to be built.

The building is to be renovated by the Masons, with its upstairs to be used by the lodge and the downstairs to be available to the community for civic and recreational purposes.

Driver Pressure Denied by Griffin

Gov. Griffin Wednesday denied the Georgia School Bus Drivers' Assn. brought any pressure to bear on him to liberalize school transportation aid.

But he added, "79 counties which lost money on transportation this year did bring pressure on me."

He referred to charges of State School Board members that the bus drivers had prevailed upon him to order that no county get less transportation aid this year than last year.
